Modelling of Intermittent Estuaries W.R. Cuff, M.Jr. Tomczak, 2013-06-29 This book reports on the findings of and summarizes the conclusions from the Port Hacking Estuary Project a model guided multidisciplinary study of an estuarine ecosystem The Project began in 1973 at a time when it was thought that environmental problems could be solved readily by assembling a multidisciplinary team of research scientists and having them co ordinate their research around the construction of an ecosystem model But a decade has passed and time has not been easy on this approach The anticipated predictive dynamic models have not been produced and bitter argument has often marred the course of such studies Yet the need to anticipate the flow of various chemical species carbon oxygen nitrogen phosphorus toxicants through the environment remains the evidence is everywhere from fertilization of urban lakes to acid rain The magnitude of the problem ensures that funds will continue to be made available although with short term variations as perceptions swing It is thus clear that although the difficulties are great so is the need It is from this background that we present this book The Port Hacking Estuary Project involved some 15-20 research scientists over a period of 5 years The goal was to research the flow of carbon into within and out of a small unpolluted estuary chosen for convenience rather than for its social significance The idea was to use the information obtained from these studies to build a predictive dynamic model Bridge Inspection

Malingering, Feigning, and Response Bias in Psychiatric/ Psychological Injury Gerald Young,2014-02-11 This book is a comprehensive analysis of the definitions concepts and recent research on malingering feigning and other response biases in psychological injury forensic disability populations It presents a new model of malingering and related biases and develops a diagnostic system based on it that is applicable to PTSD chronic pain and TBI Included are suggestions for effective practice and future research based on the literature reviews and the new systems which are useful also because they can be used readily by psychiatrists as much as psychologists In Malingering Feigning and Response Style Assessment in Psychiatric Psychological Injury Dr Young ambitiously sets out to articulate and synthesize the polarities involved in the assessment of response styles in psychological disabilities including PTSD pain and TBI He does so thoroughly and very even handedly neither minimizing the degree that outright faking can be found in substantial numbers of examinees nor disregarding the possibility that there can be causes for validity test failure other than malingering He reviews the prior systems for classifying evidence of malingering and proposes his own criteria for feigned PTSD These are conservative and well grounded in the prior literature Finally the book contains dozens of very recent references giving testament to Dr Young s immersion in the personal injury literature as might be expected from his experience as founder and Editor in Chief for Psychological Injury and the Law Reviewer Steve Rubenzer Ph D ABPP Board Certified Forensic Psychologist
