Los,2021-03-23 Despite providing us with a good understanding of how firms use certain mechanisms to benefit from open innovation strategies current research provides only limited insights into how barriers internal to the firm may hamper knowledge transfer and limit effective utilization of external knowledge sources The Influence of Internal Barriers on Open Innovation proposes a dynamic perspective that addresses this gap and aims at stimulating this discussion in two ways First by looking at how the way firms structure their internal innovation activities may unintentionally create barriers to the incorporation of external knowledge Second by reflecting on how internal barriers might be coupled to firm decisions aimed at the optimization of innovation processes like the balance between exploration and exploitation strategies The chapters of this book provide detailed conceptualization and investigation of organizational characteristics and practices that influence internal barriers to open innovation The diverse set of studies described in the chapters of this book will help open innovation scholars to better understand the challenges that firms face when dealing with internal barriers that affect their external knowledge search and knowledge sourcing The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Industry and Innovation Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh,2010-02-12 New Transnationalisms in Contemporary

Latin American Cinemas Dolores Tierney, 2018-01-23 In the late 1990s and early 2000s Latin American films like Amores perros Y tu mamá también and Cidade de Deus enjoyed an unprecedented level of critical and commercial success in the world market. Benefitting from external financial and/or creative input, these films were considered examples of transnational cinema. Through a textual analysis of six filmmakers: Alejandro González Iñárritu, Alfonso Cuarón, Guillermo del Toro, Fernando Meirelles, Walter Salles, and Juan José Campanella, this book examines these transnational films and the subsequent wave of commercially successful deterritorialised films by the same directors. It argues that although films produced within the structures of the United States film industry may have been commercially successful, they are not necessarily apolitical or totally divorced from key notions of national or continental identity. Bringing a new perspective to the films of Latin America's transnational auteurs, this is a major contribution towards understanding how different genres function across different cultures.
