Muk Private Admissions 2015:

Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico, Bunting, Ian, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Intra-Africa Student Mobility in Higher Education Chika Trevor Schoole, Jenny J. Lee, 2022-01-01 This book examines student mobility within Africa International student mobility is among the central activities of higher education internationalization As the number of international students increase so do the destinations in both number and geographic diversity Historically international student mobility has followed South North and North North patterns However recent literature show the growth in North South and South South patterns of student mobility There has also been a rise in regional mobility In what is referred to in the book as intra Africa mobility the book explores and analyzes the patterns of intra Africa mobility based on seven African countries South Africa Kenya Uganda Nigeria Ghana Senegal and Egypt The editors and contributors address three central research questions Why did the students choose the country they are studying in Why did they choose the institution they are studying in What are their academic and social experiences in these countries and their respective institutions This book is the first comprehensive exploration of intra Africa student mobility in a field that traditionally centers on the Global North

Transforming Research Excellence McLean, Robert , Tijssen, Robert, Wallace, Matthew L., Kraemer-Mbula, Erika, 2020-01-18 Modern day science is under great pressure A potent mix of increasing expectations limited resources tensions between competition and cooperation and the need for evidence based funding is creating major change in how science is conducted and perceived Amidst this perfect storm is the allure of research excellence a concept that drives decisions made by universities and funders and defines scientists research strategies and career trajectories But what is excellent science And how to recognise it After decades of inquiry and debate there is still no satisfactory answer Are we asking the wrong question Is reality more complex and excellence in science more elusive than many are willing to admit And how should excellence be defined in different parts of the world particularly in lower income countries of the Global South where science is expected to contribute to pressing development issues despite often scarce resources Many wonder whether the Global South is importing with or without consenting the flawed tools for research evaluation from North America and Europe that are not fit for purpose This book takes a critical view of these issues touching on conceptual issues and practical problems that inevitably emerge when excellence is at the center of science systems Emerging from the capacity building work of the Science Granting Councils Initiative in sub Saharan Africa it speaks to scholars as well as to managers and funders of research around the world Confronting sticky problems and uncomfortable truths the chapters contain insights and recommendations that point towards new solutions both for the Global South and the Global North

American Higher Education in a Global Context Cristina González, 2022-02-14
American Higher Education in a Global Context Historical Perspectives describes the current state of universities on each continent providing a comprehensive analysis of the numerous factors that have affected higher education systems around the world This book studies higher education from its emergence in antiquity to the establishment of the American research university model and its adoption around the globe through the current Covid 19 pandemic and concomitant economic and political crisis The author pays special attention to the shortcomings of the neoliberal trend of the last four decades which increased social stratification at institutions of higher learning Calling for an expansion of access to tertiary education and in particular to research universities this book examines the competition between China and the United States in the field of higher education stressing the importance of academic freedom without which there can be no true academic excellence

Sharing Higher Education's

Promise beyond the Few in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter Darvas, Shang Gao, Yijun Shen, Bilal Bawany, 2017-11-15 Despite a spectacular expansion of the higher education sector in Sub Saharan Africa the supply of tertiary education has generally failed to keep pace with demand and the region continues to lag all other regions in terms of access to tertiary education This is in part a consequence of deeply entrenched patterns of inequitable access to higher education and the perpetuation of what researchers refer to as elite systems To date access to tertiary education in Sub Saharan Africa has unduly benefitted students drawn from the region's wealthiest households and overall enrollment remains disproportionately male and metropolitan These factors stifle the catalytic potential of higher education corroding its potential for driving economic growth and sustaining poverty reduction Instead patterns of access to tertiary education have generally reinforced and reproduced social inequality instead of eroding its pernicious social and economic effects This report aims to inform an improved understanding of equity in tertiary enrollment in Sub Saharan African countries and to examine the extent to which inequity functions as a bottleneck inhibiting the ability of African universities to effectively drive improvements in overall quality of life and economic competitiveness In our survey of the evidence we also aim to identify which policies most effectively address the challenge of promoting equity of access in SSA tertiary education systems In order to achieve these objectives the report collects generates and analyzes empirical evidence on patterns of equity examines the underlying causes of inequity and evaluates government policies for addressing inequity

Implausible Dream James H.

Mittelman, 2020-08-04 Why the paradigm of the world class university is an implausible dream for most institutions of higher education Universities have become major actors on the global stage Yet as they strive to be world class institutions of higher education are shifting away from their core missions of cultivating democratic citizenship fostering critical thinking and safeguarding academic freedom In the contest to raise their national and global profiles universities are embracing a new form of utilitarianism one that favors market power over academic values In this book James Mittelman explains why the world class university is an implausible dream for most institutions and proposes viable alternatives that can help universities thrive in today's competitive global environment Mittelman traces how the scale reach and impact of higher education institutions expanded exponentially in the post World War II era and how the market led educational model became widespread Drawing on his own groundbreaking fieldwork he offers three case studies the United States which exemplifies market oriented educational globalization Finland representative of the strong public sphere and Uganda a postcolonial country with a historically public but now increasingly private university system Mittelman shows that the world class paradigm is untenable for all but a small group of wealthy research intensive universities primarily in the global North Nevertheless institutions without substantial material resources and in far different contexts continue to aspire to world class stature An urgent wake up call Implausible Dream argues that universities are repurposing at the peril of their high principles and recommends structural reforms that are more practical than the unrealistic worldwide measures of excellence prevalent today Knowledge Production and Contradictory Functions in African Higher Education Cloete, Nico, Maassen, Peter, 2015-03-01 Reviews This volume brings together excellent scholarship and innovative policy discussion to demonstrate the essential role of higher education in the development of Africa and of the world at large Based on deep knowledge of the university system in several African countries this book will reshape the debate on development in the global information economy for years to come It should be mandatory reading for academics policy makers and concerned citizens in Africa and elsewhere Manuel Castells Professor Emeritus University of California at Berkeley Laureate of the Holberg Prize 2012 and of the Balzan Prize 2013 The dominant global discourse in higher education now focuses on world class universities inevitably located predominantly in North America Europe and increasingly East Asia The rest of the world including Africa is left to play catch up But that discourse should focus rather on the tensions even contradictions between excellence and engagement with which all universities must grapple Here the African experience has much to offer the high participation and generously resourced systems of the so called developed world This book offers a critical review of that experience and so makes a major contribution to our understanding of higher education Sir Peter Scott former editor of Times Higher Education and Professor of Higher Education Studies University College London Institute of Education Quality Assurance in Higher Education in Eastern and Southern Africa Peter Neema-Abooki, 2021-08-23 This book examines the critical aspect of quality assurance maintenance of competitive standards in African higher education It explores both the micro and macro levels of continental African higher education regulatory authorities and analyses different institutional regional and national practices for moving towards continental quality assurance approaches Contributed to by scholars across Eastern and Southern Africa the book considers conceptual practical epistemological and policy dimensions of quality and quality assurance especially in relation to higher education in Africa It therefore draws on research and local expertise to open up debate about how to assure and enhance the quality of higher education providing a comprehensive review of eight countries and considers societal challenges It aims to satisfy the need of more thoughtful and critical works on African education as produced by African educators The uniqueness of this book lies in integrating both the theoretical and practical dimensions of quality to devise appropriate strategies for ensuring quality and standards in higher education in continental Africa and beyond This authoritative book advocates for a timely discussion around the provision of good quality higher education and research in African universities and will be of great interest to academics policy makers researchers and post graduate students in the fields of higher education comparative education and African studies Women and Power in Post-Conflict Africa Aili Mari Tripp, 2015-10-20 The book explains an unexpected consequence of the decrease in conflict in Africa after the 1990s Analysis of cross national data and in depth comparisons of case studies of Uganda Liberia and Angola show that post conflict countries have significantly higher rates of women s political representation in legislatures and government compared with countries that have not undergone major conflict They have also passed more legislative reforms and made more constitutional changes relating to women s rights The study explains how and why these patterns emerged tying these outcomes to the conjuncture of the rise of women s movements changes in international women s rights norms and most importantly gender disruptions that occur during war This book will help scholars students women s rights activists international donors policy makers non governmental organizations NGOs and others better understand some of the circumstances that are most conducive to women s rights reform today and why

Working with Rural Communities Participatory Action Research in Kenya Chitere, Orieko P.,Mutiso, Roberta,2015-03-16 This book addresses itself to mobilisation and involvement of rural people in development projects It describes an imperfect but nonetheless exciting and thought provoking exercise that drew social science researchers and students from four public universities in Kenya into an experiment in participatory research community education and development in two locations The experiment was grounded on the assumptions that the people of Kenya are a primary resource and that given proper roles and contribution of planners researchers and programme implementers self sustainable development can become a reality The contributors of this book have focused on the potential of the university to facilitate participation of the people in development They have given specific suggestions on how this might be accomplished
