Fathers and Sons (Classic Reprint) Ivan Sergeyevich Turgenev, 2017-10-12. Excerpt from Fathers and Sons. We must be satisfied instead to recall the direct event of the novel as it falls in his own record. The present writer some years ago spent a spring at Ventnor in the Isle of Wight and found the house on the sea brink in which he stayed had been occupied by Turgenev at one time. Then and there it was in 1860 and at Ventnor that he had the first idea of this novel and it is scarcely being too fanciful to think that he imagined the home environment and the spacious vista of the Russian provinces more fondly and more freely because of his being at a long remove from them in that small and confined seaside nook of Ventnor. Already we must remember the liberation of the serf had taken place and the ferment of liberal ideas was working in the new generation. As we look back. Fathers and Sons in Baseball Broadcasting Tony Silvia, 2009-07-15. In this work, first-hand accounts and original interviews illuminate how the father-son relationship thrives because of baseball and sometimes in spite of it. Each of these men bears a legendary name in baseball broadcasting: Caray, Brennaman, Buck, and Kalas, and some can count four generations of men whose voices defined a team. All of the sons relate how their fathers' names opened doors for them but concurrently raised expectations of how they should perform, and all relate how they learned from their fathers and grandfathers' triumphs and mistakes. Includes a foreword by Chip Caray, speeches by Joe Buck about his father Jack, and articles by Skip Caray, Chip Caray, and Marty Brennaman.
