

FEDERALIST 10 ANSWER KEY

1. How does Madison define "faction"?

By a faction, I understand a number of citizens, whether assembled in a majority or a minority of the whole, who are united and actuated by some common impulse of passion, or of interest, adverse to the rights of other citizens, or to the permanent and aggregate interests of the community."

2. What are the main methods of "controlling the mischief of faction?"

Removing its causes and controlling its effects.

3. According to James Madison how do you remove the causes of faction?

1. By removing principal causes, which is essential to the removal of factions. 2. By giving every citizen the same opinions, passions, and interests.

4. Ultimately, why can't faction be removed according to Federalist 10?

1. To remove faction you would have to remove liberty, which delivers the promise of a Republic. Madison states: "Liberty is to faction what air is to fire, an essential without which it instantly expires. But it could not be less fully to destroy liberty, which is essential to political life, because it removes factions. Then it would be to destroy the constitution itself, which is essential to work at the removal of its evils by the disinterested agency."

2. As long as the remaining citizens is flawed, interest, have the ability to remove it, without opinions and he himself, and it is impossible to give every person the same opinion.

5. What are the two ways can factions be controlled?

1. In a faction's favor, that the majority, by a regular vote. 2. "When a majority is included in a faction, the form of popular government, on the other hand, enables it to sacrifice to its ruling passion or interest both the public good and the rights of other citizens. To secure the public good and private rights against the danger of such a faction, and at the same time to preserve the spirit and the form of popular government, is then the great object to which our inquiries are directed."

6. Madison states that factions cannot be controlled by pure (direct) democracies, why does he make this claim? What point is he trying to convey in the reader about the national government under the Articles of Confederation?

Madison is stating the point clearly to that of the Anti-Federalists that the stronger national government and the Republic founded by the Constitution is better to protect and preserve liberty than the existing Confederacy. The request of the Anti-Federalists was that the great reputation of the states were better to protect liberty and by granting them the majority of their political power you would preserve liberty. Madison is trying to convey that current situation of the states require a stronger union for states have been experiencing a lot of "anarchy or chaos." If the current situation of the government under the articles of confederation could not be controlled, it would cause the system to collapse. The Federalist government could only succeed by controlling factions.

7. Why is a Republic the solution?

A Republic allows the public voice to be delivered by giving them through a body of elected representatives who they believed what is best for the country. By having not too many or too few representatives you also protect the country against anarchy and also the great benefits and bring the public trust. By having a sufficient number of representatives, the effect of their decisions is increased.
