Laboratory Manual for Strength and Conditioning Joshua Miller, Paul Comfort, John McMahon, 2023-05-25 The Laboratory Manual for Strength and Conditioning is a comprehensive text that provides students with meaningful lab experiences in the area of strength and conditioning and applied sport science. While each lab may be conducted in a sophisticated laboratory, there are opportunities to conduct the labs in a gym or field environment without costly equipment. It is a useful resource as students prepare for a career as a strength and conditioning coach, athletic trainer, physical therapist, or personal trainer. The Laboratory Manual for Strength and Conditioning is designed to be a practical guide for training students and professionals in the skills to be applied to strength and conditioning. The labs cover seven major aspects of strength and conditioning, including speed, power, flexibility, agility, and fitness. The labs are practical and easy to follow, with sample calculations, data tables, and worksheets to complete. Each includes suggested tasks/activities to apply the theory to real-world applications. Students will explore assessments of strength, aerobic capacity, power output, speed, change of direction, and muscular endurance, and gain understanding in the following areas: Definitions of commonly used terms within the area of exploration, as well as commonly misused terms; Assessing performance, i.e., power, strength, speed, etc.; Understanding laboratory and field-based techniques for specific athlete populations; Describing optimal methods for testing in all aspects of physical performance; Evaluation of test results based upon sport and/or athlete normative data. The lab manual is a valuable resource for strength coaches, personal trainers, kinesiology students, and educators at the undergraduate and beginning graduate level programs and can be used in a graduate strength and conditioning course.

Wrong Turns, Right Moves in Education Deborah Rhea Ed.D., 2019-03-22 As an American educator with decades of experience, Dr. Deborah J. Rhea had a burning desire to know why Finland's educational system was top ranked in the world while the United States fell in the middle of the pack. She made it her mission to learn what she could. Rhea took a six-week trip to Finland where she lived and learned from the best in their schools and government. During that period, her observations revealed that her generation experienced life and education very differently from children today. The philosophies and principles she saw reflected in the Finnish educational system helped open her eyes to the many wrong turns that the United States has made in education over the last thirty years. What's more, Rhea presents the right moves needed to get the country back on track for a healthier, happier method of educating children. In this study, an experienced educator compares the educational approaches of Finland and the United States, considering ways that the latter might be adjusted and improved.

The Systematic Screening and Assessment Method Laura C. Leviton, Laura Kettel Khan, Nicola Dawkins, 2010-06-21 The rationale, application, and outcomes of the Systemic Screening and Assessment (SSA) Method, an innovative combination of existing evaluation methods, are described. The SSA Method is a cost-effective way to assist program funders, practitioners, and researchers in selecting the most promising innovations already in use and then preparing them for further, more rigorous evaluation. The focus of the issue is methodology with abundant practical description of its application The SSA Method is a six step process selecting a topic or theme soliciting nominations of innovations that address the theme using an expert panel to screen these nominations for those with the highest plausibility of meeting criteria for promise conducting evaluability assessments on the nominations that pass this screen expert panel review of the evaluability assessment reports The final step uses the information in three ways to identify the innovations that are most promising and ready for evaluation provide constructive feedback to the innovations that all reflect a similar program type This issue describes use of the SSA Method in a 2 year collaborative project of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation RWJF the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention CDC and the CDC Foundation aimed at changing the prevalence of childhood obesity at the level of an entire population This is the 125th volume New Directions for Evaluation of the an official publication of the American Evaluation Association
