Origin Language Religion and Belief in Turkey's Education System reveals evidence of discrimination of minority groups and suggests comprehensive reforms to effectively ensure equality. The national education system which for decades aimed to create young Turkish nationalists has in recent years become a vehicle for raising young religious Turkish nationalists, says Nurcan Kaya, Turkey Coordinator of Minority Rights Group International. Religious education is compulsory from grade four in primary schools. While some information on world religions has been introduced, the emphasis remains on teaching Sunni Muslim religious practices. Children of Jewish and Christian families may apply to opt out, but the process can be cumbersome and in many schools alternatives are not provided for them. Non-Muslim students who have opted out can still find themselves having to remain in the religious instruction class or alternatively having to wander in the school corridor, making them vulnerable to taunts from pupils and even teachers. The opt-out possibility is still not available to children of other minorities. Another issue is mother tongue education. In 2012, a new elective on the living languages and dialects in Turkey was introduced, but due to various limitations, minorities remain marginalised in the education system. Subsequent to the 2012 reform, the report monitors discrimination in the formal education system in the period of the academic year of 2014-2015. The findings are based on the field work of the Monitoring Discrimination in Education Network, an alliance of 16 organizations working in Turkey. The report compiles numerous cases of discrimination based on language, religion, ethnicity, skin colour, and the level of income. In order to bring about a fundamental solution to these problems in the education system, the government must prioritise developing an approach that sees all groups as equal and that responds to demands for rights based on such an understanding of equality, says Kaya. The report highlights that Turkey has no anti-discrimination law or an equality commission to which victims of discrimination can apply. The existing legislation contains no effective and accessible means of judicial remedies or compensation. Therefore, many discriminatory practices are not reported to school administrations. The entire education system is based on Turkishness. Non-Turkish groups are either not referred to or referred in a negative way, says Kaya. Education system has played a significant role in deepening conflict in society. The positive representation of other groups in the education system would contribute to social peace and harmony. In order to resolve the many problems in the education system, the current approach causes the overall aim of government education policy should be cleared of ideological references and the protection of children's best interests and the right to education in line with international standards should be considered its fundamental goal, says the report.

Women Writing in a Time of War 1642 1689 explores the stereotype of the apolitical woman who was nevertheless valuable as a messenger or secret agent during the English civil wars not least because her imagined lack of political acumen obscured her partisan behaviour It examines the interconnections between early modern men and women s cultural production analyzing the secret writing and communication strategies employed by agents and spies during the wars and arguing that an attention to clandestine modes of writing provides new insights into women s literary production during the conflict Encouraging us to understand such literary production differently Britland offers a new history of early modern political writing one deeply imbricated in but by no means exclusively focused on the literary work and experiences of women the non elite and the racially marginalized in early modern England and its colonial trade networks An attentiveness to the narrative strategies deployed by women writers during the English civil wars also helps us to think about the long histories subtending our own reading and writing practices Not only does the relative invisibility of female agents in our own historiography reveal a persistent tendency in contemporary criticism to overlook women s contributions to major historical events but the book argues the early modern instrumentalization of women s bodies particularly the bodies of women from non elite backgrounds who acted as couriers within elite communication networks acts as a caution against adopting contemporary methods of reading particularly computer aided reading that can downplay or ignore the contributions of women and non elite people This book makes a case for not separating our discussions of women from those of men nor for privileging analyses of the rich over those of the poor at the same time as it remains deeply embedded in the literary material and merchant cultures of later seventeenth century England Constructing Black Education at Oberlin College

Roland M. Baumann, 2014-07-31 In 1835 Oberlin became the first institute of higher education to make a cause of racial egalitarianism when it decided to educate students irrespective of color Yet the visionary college s implementation of this admissions policy was uneven In Constructing Black Education at Oberlin College A Documentary History Roland M Baumann presents a comprehensive documentary history of the education of African American students at Oberlin College Following the Reconstruction era Oberlin College mirrored the rest of society as it reduced its commitment to black students by treating them as less than equals of their white counterparts By the middle of the twentieth century black and white student activists partially reclaimed the Oberlin legacy by refusing to be defined by race Generations of Oberlin students plus a minority of faculty and staff rekindled the college s commitment to racial equality by 1970 In time black separatism in its many forms replaced the integrationist ethic on campus as African Americans sought to chart their own destiny and advance curricular change Oberlin s is not a story of unbroken progress but rather of irony of contradictions and integrity of myth and reality and of imperfections Baumann takes readers directly to the original sources by including thirty complete documents from the Oberlin College Archives This richly illustrated volume is an important contribution to the college's 175th anniversary celebration of its distinguished history for it convincingly documents how Oberlin wrestled over the meaning of race and the destiny of black people in American society The European Archaeologist: 1 - 21a Henry Cleere, Karen Waugh, Ross Samson, 2014-09-11 This volume gathers together the first 10 years of The European Archaeologist ISSN 1022 0135 from Winter 1993 through to the 10th Anniversary Conference Issue published in 2004 for the Lyon Annual Meeting

Fighting for Peace in Somalia Paul D. Williams, 2018-06-20 Fighting for Peace in Somalia provides the first comprehensive analysis of the African Union Mission in Somalia AMISOM an operation deployed in 2007 to stabilize the country and defend its fledgling government from one of the world's deadliest militant organizations Harakat al Shabaab The book's two parts provide a history of the mission from its genesis in an earlier failed regional initiative in 2005 up to mid 2017 as well as an analysis of the mission's six most important challenges namely logistics security sector reform civilian protection strategic communications stabilization and developing a successful exit strategy These issues are all central to the broader debates about how to design effective peace operations in Africa and beyond AMISOM was remarkable in several respects it would become the African Union's AU largest peace operation by a considerable margin deploying over 22 000 soldiers it became the longest running mission under AU command and control outlasting the nearest contender by over seven years it also became the AU's most expensive operation at its peak costing approximately US 1 billion per year and sadly AMISOM became the AU's deadliest mission Although often referred to as a peacekeeping operation AMISOM's troops were given a range of daunting tasks that went well beyond the realm of peacekeeping including VIP protection war fighting counterinsurgency stabilization and state building as well as supporting electoral processes and facilitating humanitarian assistance The English Novel, Vol II Richard. W. F. Kroll, 2014-07-21 The English Novel Volume II Smollett to Austen collects a series of previously published essays on the early eighteenth century novel in a single volume reflecting the proliferation of theoretical approaches since the 1970s The novel has been the object of some of the most exciting and important critical speculations and the eighteenth century novel has been at the centre of new approaches both to the novel and to the period between 1750 and 1800 Richard Kroll's introduction seeks to frame the contributions by reference to the most significant critical discussions These include the general importance of sentimentalism as a cultural movement after 1750 its relationship to the emergence of the Gothic novel as a specific genre or mode the rapid rise in the number of women novelists in the later eighteenth century the relationship between the novel as mediator of social relations and the idea of the public sphere the relationship between novelistic codes and the massive growth of a consumerist society the class conflicts of writers like Smollett the effect on the novel of the new British nation and the effects of the French Revolution and the subsequent political debates on writers like Wollstonecraft Godwin and Austen This collection will be of interest to students of the later enlightenment and also to all who are interested in late eighteenth century radicalism and the general relationship between literature history and politics

The Global Work of Art Caroline A. Jones, 2017-06-01 Global biennials have proliferated in the contemporary art world but artists engagement with large scale international exhibitions has a much longer history that has influenced the present in important ways Going back to the earliest world s fairs in the nineteenth century this book argues that globalism was incubated in a century of international art contests and today constitutes an important tactic for artists As world s fairs brought millions of attendees into contact with foreign cultures products and processes artworks became juxtaposed in a theater of nations which challenged artists and critics to think outside their local academies From Gustave Courbet s rebel pavilion near the official art exhibit at the 1855 French World s Fair to curator Beryl Madra s choice of London based Cypriot Hussein Chalayan for the off site Turkish pavilion at the 2006 Venice Biennale artists have used these exhibitions to reflect on contemporary art speak to their own governments back home and challenge the wider geopolitical realm changing art and art history along the way Ultimately Caroline A Jones argues the modern appetite for experience and event structures which were cultivated around the art at these earlier expositions have now come to constitute contemporary art itself producing encounters that transform the public and force us to reflect critically on the global condition
