By 1990, the average life expectancy at birth in the United States had increased to 75 years, a 10-year increase from 1960. This increase was due to a combination of factors, including improvements in medical care, nutrition, and lifestyle. The increase in life expectancy was also reflected in the increase in the number of people aged 65 and older, from 15 million in 1960 to 35 million in 1990.
