Hallucination Philosophy And Psychology:

Hallucination Fiona Macpherson, Dimitris Platchias, 2013-08-30 Scientific and philosophical perspectives on hallucination essays that draw on empirical evidence from psychology neuroscience and cutting edge philosophical theory Reflection on the nature of hallucination has relevance for many traditional philosophical debates concerning the nature of the mind perception and our knowledge of the world In recent years neuroimaging techniques and scientific findings on the nature of hallucination combined with interest in new philosophical theories of perception such as disjunctivism have brought the topic of hallucination once more to the forefront of philosophical thinking Scientific evidence from psychology neuroscience and psychiatry sheds light on the functional role and physiology of actual hallucinations some disjunctivist theories offer a radically new and different philosophical conception of hallucination This volume offers interdisciplinary perspectives on the nature of hallucination offering essays by both scientists and philosophers Contributors first consider topics from psychology and neuroscience including neurobiological mechanisms of hallucination and the nature and phenomenology of auditory verbal hallucinations Philosophical discussions follow with contributors first considering disjunctivism and then more generally the relation between hallucination and the nature of experience Contributors István Aranyosi Richard P Bentall Paul Coates Fabian Dorsch Katalin Farkas Charles Fernyhough Dominic H ffytche Benj Hellie Matthew Kennedy Fiona Macpherson Ksenija Maravic da Silva Peter Naish Simon McCarthy Jones Matthew Nudds Costas Pagondiotis Ian Phillips Dimitris Platchias Howard Robinson Susanna Schellenberg Filippo Varese Hallucination Fiona Macpherson, Dimitris Platchias, 2013 Reflection on the nature of hallucination has relevance for many traditional philosophical debates concerning the nature of the mind perception and our knowledge of the world In recent years neuroimaging techniques and scientific findings on the nature of hallucination combined with interest in new philosophical theories of perception such as disjunctivism have brought the topic of hallucination once more to the forefront of philosophical thinking This book offers interdisciplinary perspectives on the nature of hallucination Dictionary of Philosophy and Psychology James Mark Baldwin, 1903 Dictionary of Philosophy and Psychology James Mark Baldwin, 1949 Real Hallucinations Matthew Ratcliffe, 2017-09-22 A philosophical account of the structure of experience and how it depends on interpersonal relations developed through a study of auditory verbal hallucinations and thought insertion In Real Hallucinations Matthew Ratcliffe offers a philosophical examination of the structure of human experience its vulnerability to disruption and how it is shaped by relations with other people He focuses on the seemingly simple question of how we manage to distinguish among our experiences of perceiving remembering imagining and thinking To answer this question he first develops a detailed analysis of auditory verbal hallucinations usually defined as hearing a voice in the absence of a speaker and thought insertion somehow experiencing one's own thoughts as someone else's He shows how thought insertion and many of those experiences labeled as hallucinations consist of disturbances in a person's sense of being in one type of intentional state rather than another Ratcliffe goes on to argue that such experiences occur against a backdrop of less pronounced but wider ranging alterations in the structure of intentionality In so doing he considers forms of experience associated with trauma schizophrenia and profound grief The overall position arrived at is that experience has an essentially temporal structure involving patterns of anticipation and fulfillment that are specific to types of intentional states and serve to distinguish them phenomenologically Disturbances of this structure can lead to various kinds of anomalous experience Importantly anticipation fulfillment patterns are sustained regulated and disrupted by interpersonal experience and interaction It follows that the integrity of human experience including the most basic sense of self is inseparable from how we relate to other people and to the social world as a whole

Perception, Hallucination, and Illusion William Fish, 2009-04-07 The idea of a disjunctive theory of visual experiences first found expression in J M Hinton's pioneering 1973 book Experiences In the first monograph in this exciting area since then William Fish develops a comprehensive disjunctive theory incorporating detailed accounts of the three core kinds of visual experience perception hallucination and illusion and an explanation of how perception and hallucination could be indiscriminable from one another without having anything in common In the veridical case Fish contends that the perception of a particular state of affairs involves the subject's being acquainted with that state of affairs and that it is the subject's standing in this acquaintance relation that makes the experience possess a phenomenal character Fish argues that when we hallucinate we are having an experience that while lacking phenomenal character is mistakenly supposed by the subject to possess it Fish then shows how this approach to visual experience is compatible with empirical research into the workings of the brain and concludes by extending this treatment to cover the many different types of illusion that we can be subject to

Wittgenstein on Sensation and Perception Michael Hymers, 2017-01-12 This book offers two novel claims about Wittgenstein s views and methods on perception as explored in the Philosophical Investigations The first is an interpretive claim about Wittgenstein that his views on sensation and perception including his critique of private language have their roots in his reflections on sense datum theories and on what Hymers calls the misleading metaphor of phenomenal space The second is a major philosophical claim that Wittgenstein s critique of the misleading metaphor of phenomenal space is of ongoing relevance to current debates concerning first person authority and the problem of perception because we are still tempted to draw inferences about the phenomenal that only apply to the physical Many contemporary discussions of these topics are thus premised on the very confusions Wittgenstein sought to dispel This book will appeal to Wittgenstein scholars who are interested in the Philosophical Investigations and to philosophers of perception who may think that Wittgenstein s views are mistaken irrelevant or already adequately appreciated

Challenging Knowledge Jody Azzouni,2025 Starting point epistemology SPE is a new position in epistemology that coupled with agent centered rationality the idea that a rational agent is one who cleaves to their own picture of rationality is the key to resolving philosophical scepticism SPE acknowledges that metacognitively sophisticated agents know that they know things and know some things about the methods by which this happens Agent centered rationality implies that a metacognitively sophisticated agent should only desert a knowledge claim because of a challenge they recognize to be fatal to that claim Scepticism is metacognitive pathology Except in those rare cases when an individual is cognitively damaged sceptical arguments should fail In Challenging Knowledge Jody Azzouni studies the various ways the cognitively healthy can protect themselves from prematurely denying what they take themselves to know A sceptical position results from an agent's failure to correctly monitor their own processes of knowledge gathering These scenarios are characterized as cases that are logically compatible with the evidence had by that agent but logical possibility is not coextensive with epistemic possibility The former allows cases that no agent should regard as challenging their knowledge claims and excludes cases that every agent should be concerned with Giving in to logically possible scenarios illustrates an agent's failure to stand their ground when inappropriately challenged e.g. yielding their knowledge claims in cases where they know the scenarios being presented are too remote to take seriously Azzouni shows how the arguments for Cartesian and Pyrrhonian scepticism turn on failures to appropriately evaluate one's knowledge gathering methods
