Designing Interaction and Interfaces for Automated Vehicles Neville Stanton,Kirsten M. A. Revell,Patrick Langdon,2021-03-10 Driving automation and autonomy are already upon us and the problems that were predicted twenty years ago are beginning to appear These problems include shortfalls in expected benefits equipment unreliability driver skill fade and error inducing equipment designs Designing Interaction and Interfaces for Automated Vehicles User Centred Ecological Design and Testing investigates the difficult problem of how to interface drivers with automated vehicles by offering an inclusive human centred design process that focusses on human variability and capability in interaction with interfaces This book introduces a novel method that combines both systems thinking and inclusive user centred design It models driver interaction provides design specifications concept designs and the results of studies in simulators on the test track and in road going vehicles This book is for designers of systems interfaces interactions UX Human Factors and Ergonomics researchers and practitioners involved with systems engineering and automotive academics _ In this book Prof Stanton and colleagues show how Human Factors methods can be applied to the tricky problem of interfacing human drivers with vehicle automation They have developed an approach to designing the human automation interaction for the handovers between the driver and the vehicle This approach has been tested in driving simulators and most interestingly in real vehicles on British motorways The approach called User Centred Ecological Interface Design has been validated against driver behaviour and used to support their ongoing work on vehicle automation I highly recommend this book for anyone interested or involved in designing human automation interaction in vehicles and beyond Professor Michael A Regan University of NSW Sydney AUSTRALIA

Car Life ,1965 The New York Times Index ,2002 Unsettled Issues Concerning Semi-Automated Vehicles Francesca Favaro,2020-02-28 Across the span of the SAE International defined Levels of Driving Automation human drivers occupy a diverse range of responsibilities and authority on the vehicle movement and the monitoring of the outside environment From both a technological and a regulatory perspective there is a gap that divides lower levels of automation L1 through L3 and higher levels of automation L4 and L5 For those vehicles that require the cooperation between a human driver and the autonomous technology it is important to ascertain the safety consequences of such a design choice It is also important to understand what the transition between automated driving and manual driving entails for the human driver as well as for the surrounding traffic This SAE EDGE Research Report investigates unsettled issues concerning what is commonly referred to as semi automation including an overview of the role of human drivers the quantification of the transition to manual problem the role played by L3 toward full automation and regulatory and moral considerations surrounding the deployment of these vehicles NOTE SAE EDGE Research Reports are intended to identify and illuminate key issues in emerging but still unsettled technologies of interest to the mobility industry The goal of SAE EDGE Research Reports is to stimulate discussion and work in the hope of promoting and speeding resolution of identified issues SAE EDGE Research Reports are not intended to resolve the issues they identify or close any topic to further scrutiny Click here to access the full SAE EDGETM Research Report portfolio <https://doi.org/10.4271/EPR2020001>
