The Civic Mission of Museums Anthony Pennay,2020-12-15 Museums have long sought to maintain relevance in the daily lives of their communities Over the past several decades museums have shifted as a field from a focus on collections to a focus on connecting with audiences More recently museums must confront political polarization and a decreasing sense of trust in nearly every public institution As a result few institutions are better positioned to serve the country than museums In fact polls show that museums rank among the most trusted institutions in the country regardless of political belief During tumultuous times this trust means that museums have a unique and important responsibility to fulfill their civic mission A century ago John Cotton Dana argued that the most important thing a museum can do is produce a public benefit The Civic Mission of Museums argues that museums play an essential role in the cultivation of engaged and informed citizens The book outlines a spectrum of civic learning that includes civic knowledge civic mindset civic skillset and civic action It offers concrete examples of impactful civic programming exhibits and public engagement from a diverse set of museums It ends with a practical toolkit gleaned from across the country for museum professionals to utilize

Hey Little Missy Katy Napoleon-Hill,2013-09-16 If you had only three bags to fit your whole life into and you knew you were never coming back home what would you put in them Well that s exactly what happened on a sunny morning more than twenty years ago to a sixteen year old teenage girl This inspiring book tells the story of a runaway child who escapes a controlling father by running away to a self gained scholarship at a prestigious Jewish boarding school Carmel College located in the glorious Oxfordshire countryside It s a tale of a child s courage and determination to overcome adversity turn neglect into respect and ultimately build a bridge to a better life The lessons learned are as relevant in adult life as they were to her former years

When Schools Work Bruce Fuller,2022-03-01 How did a young generation of activists come together in 1990s Los Angeles to shake up the education system creating lasting institutional change and lifting children and families across southern California Critics claim that America s public schools remain feckless and hamstrung institutions unable to improve even when nudged by accountability minded politicians market competition or global pandemic But if schools are so hopeless then why did student learning climb in Los Angeles across the initial decades of the twenty first century In When Schools Work Bruce Fuller details the rise of civic activists in L A as they emerged from the ashes of urban riots and failed efforts to desegregate schools Based on the author s fifteen years of field work in L A the book reveals how this network of Latino and Black leaders civil rights lawyers ethnic nonprofits and pedagogical progressives coalesced in the 1990s staking out a third political ground and gaining distance from corporate neoliberals and staid labor chiefs Fuller shows how these young activists whom he terms new pluralists proceeded to better fund central city schools win quality teachers widen access to college prep courses decriminalize student discipline and even create a panoply of new school forms from magnet schools to dual language campuses site run small high schools and social justice focused classrooms Moving beyond perennial hand wringing over urban schools this book offers empirical lessons on what reforms worked to lift achievement and kids across this vast and racially divided metropolis More broadly this study examines why these new pluralists emerged in this kaleidoscopic city and how they went about jolting an institution once given up for dead Spotlighting the force of ethnic communities and humanist notions of children s growth Fuller argues that diversifying forms of schooling also created unforeseen ways of stratifying both children and families When Schools Work will inform the efforts of educators activists policy makers and anyone else working to reshape public schools and achieve equitable results for all children
