5 Common Pitfalls to Avoid When Setting Goals

1 Starting too high

When you're just starting out, it's important to set goals that are realistic and achievable. If you set goals that are too high, you may feel discouraged and give up.

2 Setting goals that are too vague

Consider this: "I want to be a better person." This is a very vague goal. It's difficult to measure progress and it's hard to know when you've achieved it.

Use the information you have about your client's abilities and interests to set specific, measurable goals.

3 Adding too many goals

Have you ever tried to do too many things at once? It's frustrating, isn't it? The same goes for setting goals. If you have too many goals, you may feel overwhelmed and give up.

Instead, set a few goals that are realistic and achievable. Focus on one goal at a time and celebrate when you achieve it.

3 Steps to Setting Goals in Aphasia Therapy

1 Get to Know Your Client

Find out about your client's interests, abilities, and preferences. This will help you set goals that are meaningful and motivating.

Collaborate with your client to set goals that are realistic and achievable. Make sure they are motivated and committed to the process.

Even if your client doesn't seem to be motivated, try to figure out why. There may be a reason for their lack of motivation.

2 Conduct a Baseline Assessment

Yes, this really does take time. But it's worth it. A baseline assessment will help you understand your client's current abilities and set goals that are realistic and achievable.
