Anthropology and Global History Robert M. Carmack, 2013-10-11 Anthropology and Global History explains the origin and development of human societies and cultures from their earliest beginnings to the present utilizing an anthropological lens but also drawing from sociology economics political science history and ecological and religious studies. Carmack reconceptualizes world history from a global perspective by employing the expansive concepts of world systems and civilizations and by paying deeper attention to the role of tribal and native peoples within this history. Rather than concentrating on the minute details of specific great events in global history he shifts our focus to the broad social and cultural contexts in which they occurred. Carmack traces the emergence of ancient kingdoms and the characteristics of pre modern empires as well as the processes by which the modern world has become integrated and transformed. The book addresses Western civilization as well as comparative processes which have unfolded in Asia the Middle East Latin America and sub Saharan Africa. Vignettes opening each chapter and case studies integrated throughout the text illustrate the numerous and often extremely complex historical processes which have operated through time and across local regional and global settings.

Cultural Change in Modern World History Peter N. Stearns, 2018-12-13 In this innovative textbook leading world historian Peter Stearns analyses key examples of culture change from around the world highlighting what culture change involves and how it can be explained and assessed both historically and in the contemporary world Culture change is one of the most interesting and significant features of human society but until now there has been no book for the classroom which looks explicitly at this phenomenon Cultural Change in Modern World History covers different kinds and levels of culture change since 1500 from colonial culture contact in British India to modernization in Meiji Japan and changing attitudes towards gay marriage in the past decade considering how we should define culture change how to deal with causation and how to evaluate continuities and consequences Stearns addresses fundamental questions why do groups of people change their beliefs and values and what happens when they do Conversely why do some groups resist culture change and how do some manage to combine novel and more traditional cultural components Figuring out how better to understand why groups or societies change their minds or refuse to do so provides a crucial perspective on human behaviors and values As the first book to explore this important question Cultural Change in Modern World History is a ground breaking text for students of world history cultural history and anthropology

Labour-Intensive Industrialization in Global History Gareth Austin, Kaoru Sugihara, 2013-09-13 The prevailing view of industrialization has focussed on technology capital entrepreneurship and the institutions that enabled them to be deployed Labour was often equated with other factors of production and assigned a relatively passive role Yet it was labour absorption and the improvement of the quality of labour over the course of several centuries that underscored the timing pace and quality of global industrialization While science and technology developed in the West and whereas the use of fossil fuels especially coal and oil were vital to this process the more recent history has been underpinned by the development of comparatively resource and energy saving technology without which the diffusion of industrialization would not have been possible The labour intensive resource saving path which emerged in East Asia under the influence of Western technology and institutions and is diffusing across the world suggests the most realistic route humans could take for a further diffusion of industrialization which might respond to the rising expectations of living standards without catastrophic environmental degradation

Muslim Reformism - A Critical History Mohamed Haddad, 2020-02-28. This book examines the evolution of Islam in our modern world. The renowned Tunisian scholar Mohamed Haddad traces the history of the reformist movement and explains recent events related to the Islamic religion in Muslim countries and among Muslim minorities across the world. In scholarly terms, he evaluates the benefits and drawbacks of theological, political, renovation, neo-reformism, legal reformism, mystical reformism, radical criticism, comprehensive history, and new approaches within the study of Islam. The book brings to life the various historical, sociological, political, and theological challenges and debates that have divided Muslims since the 19th century. The first two chapters address failed reforms in the past and introduce the reader to classical reformism and to Mohammed Abduh. Haddad ultimately proposes a non-confessional definition of religious reform, reinterpreting and adjusting a religious tradition to modern requirements. The second part of the book explores perspectives on contemporary Islam, the legacy of classical reformism, and new paths forward. It suggests that the fundamentalism embodied in Wahhabism and Muslim Brotherhood has failed. Traditional Islam no longer attracts either youth or the elites. Mohamed Haddad shows how this paves the way for a new reformist departure that synthesizes modernism and core Islamic values. UPSC NCERT GIST
