Re-writing Pasts, Imagining Futures N. Gomia, Shang Ndi, 2017-12-29 The papers in this volume focus on fiction and theatre in their traditional forms as well as in their encounters with novel and innovative forms and avenues of dissemination As a cultural practice that emerged from a process of protest and contestation of hegemony it is understandable that one main concern in African literature and literary criticism is the resistance against the emergence of marginalizing centers in formerly or currently marginalized societies with regard to discourses aesthetics and media of creation These new centers that sometimes undermine the strategic tactical exploitation of the relative advantage procured by each medium run the risk of leading to new forms of stratification that mitigate the import of African and African diasporic literatures The collection of essays therefore seeks to analyze the representation of pertinent socio political and historical questions in a variety of postcolonial texts from Africa and the African diasporas notably the Caribbean islands and the United States of America However far from re writing of history in a way that cedes to conservative worldviews creative writers and critics simultaneously attempt to chart ways forward for socially all inclusive futures In the context of colonial and neo colonial legacies that seem to forestall any sense of individual and collective self fulfillment contributors to this volume examine the pertinence of African fiction and theatre in imagining new vistas of re conceptualizing the postcolonial condition in ways that re galvanize the belief in an enabling future Development James Sumberg, 2017-07-06 Over the last decade there has been renewed interest in food security and the state of the global food system. Population growth, climate change, and food price spikes have combined to focus new attention on the technologies and institutions that underpin the production and consumption of food that is varied, nutritious, and safe. Knowledge politics within development-oriented agronomy set the stage for some models of agricultural development to be favoured over others with very real implications for the food security and wellbeing of many millions of people. Agronomy for Development demonstrates how the analysis of knowledge politics can shed valuable new light on current debates about agricultural development and food security. Using bio-physical and social sciences perspectives to address the political economy of the production and use of knowledge in development, this edited collection reflects on the changing politics of knowledge within the field of agronomy and the ways in which these politics feed and reflect the interests of a broad set of actors. This book is aimed at professionals working in agricultural research as well as students and practitioners of agricultural, rural, and international development. Journal of Linguistics, 2017 Developing Africa's Financial Services Dana T. Redford, 2017-05-11 Financial services are an essential element in powering entrepreneurial activity beyond resource extraction in Africa. This book examines the macro trends and highlights inspiring success stories of entrepreneurial financial sector ventures that are making a lasting contribution to the economic development of various sub-Saharan African countries.

Moody, 2021-03-18 This book examines the role of English within education and society in the quickly changing city of Macau. Macau's multilingual language ecology offers the unique opportunity to examine language planning and policy issues within a small speech community. The languages within the ecology include several Chinese varieties such as Cantonese, Putonghua, and Hokkien. European languages like Portuguese and English, and a number of Asian languages that include, among others, Burmese, Filipino languages, Japanese, Timorese, etc. As the smallest city in South China's Pearl River Delta, Macau has sought to maintain cultural and linguistic independence from its larger neighbours, and independence has been built upon an historic commitment to multilingualism and cultural plurality. As economic development and globalisation offer new opportunities to a growing middle class, the sociolinguistics of a small society constrain and influence the language policies that the territory seeks to implement. Macau's multilingual and pluralistic response to language needs within the territory echoes historical responses to similar challenges and suggests that small communities function sociolinguistically in ways that differ from larger communities

The Instruction and Acquisition of the BA Construction by Students of Chinese as a Foreign Language Hongying Xu, 2023-11-03 The Instruction and Acquisition of the BA Construction by Students of Chinese as a Foreign Language tackles the linguistically unique and notoriously difficult BA construction in Chinese covering its linguistic properties and acquisition by learners of Chinese as a foreign language alongside teaching recommendations Adopting the Interface Hypothesis and the Processing Instruction approach Hongying Xu argues that not all linguistic properties of the BA construction are equally difficult to acquire and that properties that call for knowledge from interfaces including semantics pragmatics and syntax are more difficult to master than those that involve pure syntactic knowledge Xu argues that instructors should provide manipulated input to help learners notice and process these properties before they are required to produce any grammatical and appropriate sentences using the ba construction Africana Linguistica, 2017

Angles of Object Agreement Andrew Nevins, Anita Peti-Stantic, Mark de Vos, Jana Willer-Gold, 2022-11-17 This volume draws on insights from a range of theoretical perspectives to explore objects agreement and their intersecting angles based on novel data from multiple language families The recent expansion of agreement theories has revealed new ways of integrating phenomena that affect objects and their relational and featural properties with conventional object markers under a single agreement umbrella The contributions to this book present the major advances in these new angles of research into object agreement and highlight in particular the shared conditions on objects undergoing agreement that are attested in a large number of genetically unrelated languages and language modalities Following a detailed introduction the chapters are organized into four parts that explore respectively the mechanics of object agreement constraints on symmetry features of object agreement and issues relating to the left periphery The volume s findings and the novel questions that they raise will be of interest to theoretical linguists typologists sign language researchers and anyone working on the theoretical analysis of Amazonian Bantu Romance Semitic and Slavic languages Estimates of Recurrent Expenditure of the Government of Kenya for the Year Ending 30th June ... Indian Journal of Chemistry ,2009 Agree to Agree Peter W. Smith,Johannes Mursell,Katharina Hartmann,2020 Agreement is a pervasive phenomenon across natural languages Depending on one s definition of what constitutes agreement it is either found in virtually every natural language that we know of or it is at least found in a great many Either way it seems to be a core part of the system that underpins our syntactic knowledge Since the introduction of the operation of Agree in Chomsky 2000 agreement phenomena and the mechanism that underlies agreement have garnered a lot of attention in the Minimalist literature and have received different theoretical treatments at different stages Since then many different phenomena involving dependencies between elements in syntax including movement or not have been accounted for using Agree The mechanism of Agree thus provides a powerful tool to model dependencies between syntactic elements far beyond feature agreement The articles collected in this volume further explore these topics and contribute to the ongoing debates surrounding agreement The authors gathered in this book are internationally reknown experts in the field of Agreement Estimates of Recurrent Expenditure of the Government of Kenya for the Year Ending ... Kenya,1999 Dunes, Groundwater, Mangroves, and Birdlife in Coastal Kenya ,1998 Abstracts of Papers Accepted for the 19th Conference on African Linguistics, Boston University 14-17 April 1988 and Final Conference Program ,1988
