

The background of the book cover is a light yellowish-green. In the upper right, there is a faint, detailed illustration of a human brain. A paintbrush with a yellow handle and a dark, dry brush tip lies diagonally across the center. To the left of the brush, there are several semi-transparent circles of varying shades of green and blue, connected by thin green lines, suggesting a network or molecular structure. Below the main title, there are some blue and green paint splatters and small dots.
