Health Information Science Yan Li,Zhisheng Huang,Manik Sharma,Lu Chen,Rui Zhou,2023-10-10 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 12th International Conference on Health Information Science HIS 2023 held in Melbourne VIC Australia during October 23 24 2023 The 20 full papers and 9 short papers included in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 54 submissions They were organized in topical sections as follows Depression Mental Health Data Security Privacy Healthcare Systems Neurological Cognitive Disease Studies COVID 19 Impact Studies Advanced Medical Data AI Techniques Predictive Analysis Disease Recognition Medical Imaging Dataset Exploration Elderly Care and Knowledge Systems Planning National Telemedicine and Health Hotline Services World Bank,2023-04-13 The coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic underscored the need for many countries to develop more effective and accessible primary health care systems as well as more efficient ways to quickly disperse and collect health information Governments throughout the world regardless of economic status identified the need for robust digital health care solutions as an important element in attaining these goals Telemedicine or health hotline services have shown for more than 60 years that they can help people to receive accurate and timely health information and make informed decisions about when to seek treatment These services offer the ability to provide health information and care remotely thereby extending the reach of the health care system improving efficiencies and enhancing the quality of care Despite telemedicine s well established benefits few nationally scaled telemedicine or health hotline services exist and even fewer are government owned Health services that are stewarded by governments and embedded into public health systems are more likely to sustain impact at scale However many digital health solutions are set up for emergency response or with donor funding but are not embedded within the government systems and budgets Other proposed solutions for national systems fail despite their effectiveness or impact because they are developed without government input and without a plan for government to eventually steward the solution Planning National Telemedicine and Health Hotline Services A Toolkit for Governments builds on the existing evidence to help governments establish successful and sustainable nationwide telemedicine or health hotline services This toolkit lays out a multiphased approach to implementing these services that helps to ensure that governments are fully committed to providing longterm and sustainable services within the framework of the public health system The phases include the initial assessments through technical considerations setting up and scaling up these services designing and implementing solutions developing strategies and implementation roadmaps and budgets and partnering with the private sector The toolkit also provides helpful tools for example to cost out and design the system contract with service providers and engage mobile network operators Report United States.
