Science, Technology, and Society David D. Kumar, Daryl E. Chubin, 2012-12-06 David D. Kumar and Daryl E. Chubin We live in an information age. Technology abounds: information technology, communication technology, learning technology. As a once popular song went, "Something's happening here, but it's just not exactly clear." The world appears to be a smaller, less remote place. We live in it, but we are not necessarily closely tied to it. We lack a satisfactory understanding of it. So we are left with a paradox: In an information age, information alone will neither inform nor improve us as citizens nor our democracy, society, or institutions. No improvement will take some effort. It is a heavy burden to be reflective, indeed analytical and disciplined, but only constructively constrained by different perspectives. The science-based technology that makes for the complexity, controversy, and uncertainty of life sows the seeds of understanding in Science.
