The Regulation of Religion and the Making of Hinduism in Colonial Trinidad Alexander Rocklin, 2019-02-07 How can religious freedom be granted to people who do not have a religion While Indian indentured workers in colonial Trinidad practiced cherished rituals Hinduism was not a widespread category in India at the time On this Caribbean island people of

South Asian descent and African descent came together under the watchful eyes of the British rulers to walk on hot coals for fierce goddesses summon spirits of the dead or honor Muslim martyrs practices that challenged colonial norms for religion and race Drawing deeply on colonial archives Alexander Rocklin examines the role of the category of religion in the regulation of the lives of Indian laborers struggling for autonomy Gradually Indians learned to narrate the origins similarities and differences among their fellows cosmological views and to define Hindus Muslims and Christians as distinct groups Their goal in doing this work of subaltern comparative religion as Rocklin puts it was to avoid criminalization and to have their rituals authorized as legitimate religion they wanted nothing less than to gain access to the British promise of religious freedom With the indenture system s end the culmination of this politics of recognition was the gradual transformation of Hindus rituals and the reorganization of their lives they fabricated a world religion called Hinduism Hinduism in

What Is Religion? Nigel Ajay Kumar, 2013-09-11 What Is Religion is one of those questions rarely asked by Christian theologians who engage in interreligious discourse Nigel Kumar makes the case however that to answer the question is critical for Christian scholars attempting to negotiate multiple religious identities as well as for those who want a clearer understanding of their own faith as religion Kumar takes a historical approach to answering the question He traces the development of the concept of religion and then formulates a theological answer not only by looking at an Indian theologian Chenchiah but also by listening to other secular and theological voices

From Primitive to Indigenous James L. Cox, 2016-04-22 The academic study of Indigenous Religions developed historically from missiological and anthropological sources but little analysis has been devoted to this classification within departments of religious studies Evaluating this assumption in the light of case studies drawn from Zimbabwe Alaska and shamanic traditions and in view of current debates over primitivism James Cox mounts a defence for the scholarly use of the category Indigenous Religions
