

In this year's London Report, we look at the implications to the landlord from how occupier requirements are increasingly driven to amenity-rich buildings and locations. Moreover, we compute amenity provision scores and show how these relate to the expected shortfall of new and refurbished buildings in many of London's submarkets. We also show the results of our capital gravity modelling of cross-border investment flows, to show £9.5bn of transactions in 2023 and that private investors are likely to be a key player.
