Desierto, David J Cohen, 2020-12-29 Since the passage of the ASEAN Charter in 2008 ASEAN has transformed itself from a loose economic cooperation into a formal intergovernmental organization designed to create an ASEAN Community forged together in three pillar communities the ASEAN Political Security Community ASEAN Economic Community and tASEAN Socio Cultural Community Forty years of pre Charter ASEAN practices coupled with over ten years of post Charter ASEAN practices thus far has witnessed the conclusion of hundreds of legally binding regional treaties and similarly binding international instruments in all areas of economic political security and socio cultural concerns for Southeast Asia to achieve ASEAN's rule of law based development objective Pre Charter and post Charter ASEAN Law is variably implemented under a hybrid governance system that depends heavily on ASEAN Member State national implementation alongside ASEAN's evolving regional institutions The result is not a model of deep integration as in the case of the European Union but a particular paradigm of horizontal embeddedness of ASEAN Law in all its norms and operational practices contingent on the capacities and compliance of national government bureaucracies in Southeast Asia This edited collection is a concise authoritative volume covering the practical doctrinal legal and policy aspects of the new regime of ASEAN Law and its consequences for realizing rule of law based development in Southeast Asia's emerging single market and production base Drawing together contributions from a range of key thinkers in the field the editors present the legal and policy making issues implicated in the practical implementation of Southeast Asia's single market and its regime for the free movement of goods services foreign investment and cross border labor The book also examines the nature of regional law making under ASEAN before and after the commencement of regional integration in 2015 the nature of ASEAN's economic regulators as well as the evolving structure for enforcement and harmonization of ASEAN Law through the array of Southeast Asian national courts arbitral tribunals and incipient mechanisms for inter State intra regional and individual State conflict management and dispute resolution This book is highly relevant to students scholars and policy makers with an interest in ASEAN Law and regional policy and to Southeast Asian studies in general Natural Perception Alice Palmer, 2023-09-14

This book shows how interpretation of visual images in international environmental law can inform judgements of the environment's aesthetic value Research Handbook on EU Agriculture Law Joseph A. McMahon, Michael N.

Cardwell, 2015-11-27 Following the conclusion of the latest round of reforms to the Common Agricultural Policy CAP in 2013 the Research Handbook on EU Agriculture Law provides an up to date discussion of these reforms and the changing landscape in which the CAP now operates Adopting an interdisciplinary approach and with international contributors from across Europe and the United States the Handbook commences with analyses of the legal instruments which implement the reformed CAP before moving on to consider questions of land use the role of agriculture within the wider food chain and the international dimension In these contexts particular issues identified include the environmental impact of past present and future farming practices the ability of the food chain to accommodate consumer preferences and scientific innovation and the

hurdles to be cleared before international consensus can be reached on a whole range of agricultural imperatives As well as providing a state of the art point of reference for academics this comprehensive book will be of great interest to students scholars and policymakers dealing with these new challenges faced by agriculture in the EU Child Law Laura Westra,2014-06-17 Child Law starts with the question Who is the Child In direct contrast to the CRC which calls for putting the interests of the child first in all policies dealing with children it appears that the interests of others are the major consideration de facto In law children s right to protection is severely limited by the presence of a maximum age limit with no consideration of the starting point current and ongoing scientific research has demonstrated the effects of this non consideration in a number of abnormalities and diseases not only in children but in adults and the elderly The WHO has published a number of studies to that effect and the 2012 Report on Endocrine Disruptors more than confirms this claim This and other scientific insights that have largely been ignored show the flaws and inadequacies of the legal regimes intended to protect children in a number of areas from the basic public health to the right to normal development child labor law conventions in conflict situations as a result of climate and other events children as illegal migrants and as inmates in prison camps Federal Register ,2000-07-07 International Investment Law and Competition Law Katia Fach Gómez,Anastasios Gourgourinis,Catharine Titi,2020-05-23 This EYIEL special issue examines the interaction between international investment law and competition law Although issues related to both international investment law and competition law arise regularly in international legal practice and are examined together scholarly analysis largely treats them as parallel universes As a result their actual and potential overlap has yet to be sufficiently explored In this light International Investment Law and Competition Law discusses a variety of topics at the intersection of investment and competition including the interaction between competition related provisions and investment protection standards in free trade agreements investors anti competitive behaviour and illegal investments state aid schemes and foreign investors legitimate expectations EU member States compliance with investment awards as illegal state aid under EU law State owned enterprises and competitive neutrality and interactions between public procurement investment and competition law

Varieties of Capitalism, Corporate Governance and Employees Shelley Marshall,Ian M. Ramsay,Richard Mitchell,2008 We live in a corporate world in which powerful business corporations shape and influence the activities of nation states their national economies and their social relations But what is it that moulds the activities of the corporations themselves Do some societies have styles of regulation that enable corporations to operate freely in the pursuit of certain interests where others are more constrained And if so are Australian companies more inclined to pursue the financial interests of shareholders and owners at the expense of employees and creditors Corporate governance may be guided in the pursuit of particular interests by many influences including law politics capital and labour and other pressure groups How these competing pressures balance out varies enormously from state to state Bringing together the original research by lawyers political economists and industrial relations scholars Varieties of Capitalism Corporate Governance and Employees is a first Australian contribution to these complex issues

Biotechnology and International Law Francesco Francioni, Tullio Scovazzi, 2006-06-15 As with any rapid technological development the biotechnology revolution is putting great strains on the ability of law to adapt to new challenges and threats Although there is general agreement on the need to regulate biotechnology in many different fields of human activity agriculture life sciences forensic science domestic law remains deeply divided over the best approach to take This book is the first attempt at covering the most pressing legal issues raised by the impact of biotechnologies on different categories of international norms Through the contribution of a selected group of international scholars and experts from international organizations the book addresses 1 the international status of genetic resources both in areas of national jurisdiction and in common spaces such as the international sea bed area and Antarctica 2 the relevance of environmental principles in the governance of modern biotechnologies 3 the impact of biotechnologies on trade rules including intellectual property law 4 the human rights implications especially in the field of human genetics and 5 the intersection between general international law and regional systems especially those developed in Europe and Latin America The overall objective of the book is to provide an up to date picture of international law as it stands today and to stimulate critical reflection and further research on the solutions that will be required in years to come

International Law and Sustainable Development Nico J. Schrijver, Friedl Weiss, 2004-08-10 The concept of sustainable development has attracted considerable attention in recent years and has become of pivotal importance not only in scientific and political discourse but also increasingly in the practice of states and of relevant international organisations Since 1992 and within a remarkably short period of time sustainable development has been endorsed and recognised in a number of instruments of international law Thus it is incorporated in various environmental treaties as well as in international fisheries agreements the 1995 Agreement Establishing the World Trade Organisation WTO and EU law Sustainable development and related concepts also feature in a number of international judicial decisions of the 1990s for example those of the International Court of Justice and the WTO Appellate Body The chapters assembled in this book illustrate various aspects of efforts of policy makers regional and national interest groups to invoke and rely upon international law for the realisation of the objective of sustainable development They deal in particular with recent examples of the practice of states and of relevant international organisations especially in such areas as international trade foreign investment regulation human rights and natural resources and waste management Furthermore some chapters are dedicated to a review of relevant practice at the regional and national level

Intellectual Property Thomas Cottier, Petros Constantinou Mavroidis, Marion Panizzon, 2010-04-23 The incorporation of intellectual property protection into the WTO international trading system has been a milestone in international economic law and has added a new dimension to trade regulation new rights and obligations and new challenges alike The contributors leading scholars and practitioners in the field provide insights into the legal relationship of the TRIPs Agreement to the GATT 94 and the GATS

The book widens the debate with a thorough discussion on pending and unresolved relations of TRIPs the WTO UPOV the Convention on Biodiversity and Farmers Rights contained in the FAO International Undertaking and efforts of the World Bank GCIAR system including IPGRI What will be the impact of TRIPs on ownership of plant genetic resources Largely a victory for OECD countries the present state of intellectual property rights has important implications for developing countries The incorporation of intellectual property rights into the WTO system will eventually change the relationship of trade competition and intellectual property It will equally have to assist in providing equitable sharing of benefits in the use of plant genetic resources All of these issues are essential for the revision of exclusions from patenting in TRIPs This volume offers insights into how this difficult task could and should be approached in a balanced manner and will be essential reading for economists and trade and intellectual property lawyers interested in the subject Moreover the volume will be relevant to agricultural economists as it addresses complex problems in the interstices of trade intellectual property plant genetic resources and sustainable development Thomas Cottier is Professor of European and International Economic Law University of Bern and Managing Director World Trade Institute University of Bern Petros C Mavroidis is Professor of Law University of Neuchâtel He formerly worked in the Legal Affairs Division of the World Trade Organization Marion Panizzon is Research Fellow University of Bern Simon Lacey is Research Fellow University of Bern

A Global Labour Law Adalberto Perulli,Vania Brino,2024-10-31 This book explores the prospects of a global labour law system Global labour law is understood as a still non coherent set of norms that at different levels and with different legal effectiveness regulate legal labour relations promote respect for fundamental social rights and condition the behavior of the multinational enterprise from a social justice and sustainability perspective The book deals with both international labour law and regulatory instruments of different kinds such as social clauses in international trade treaties or corporate codes of conduct transnational collective bargaining and EU directives on due diligence This complex normative system is partly reconstructed
