Internationalisation of African

Higher Education Chika Sehoole, Jane Knight, 2013-10-30 The role of higher education especially the international dimension is given little importance in the discourse on achieving the Millennium Development Goals MDGs in Africa This book aims to change that The potential of higher education s contribution to Africa s development remains unrealized and often misunderstood In today s globalised world which prioritises economic growth through liberalised trade and competitive market strategies much emphasis has been placed on higher education s ability to produce graduates to serve the labour market and produce new knowledge for the knowledge economy While these are important contributions the book argues that international higher education and new knowledge must go beyond economic purposes and serve the human and social development needs of the continent It is against this background that the African Network for the Internationalisation of Education ANIE undertook research on the international dimension of higher education in Africa and its role in the achievement of the MDGs Through empirical research seven case studies address how international and regional higher education programmes and policies in African universities can address MDG priorities of promoting gender equality and women s empowerment combating HIV AIDS and establishing global partnerships for development through academic mobility joint research initiatives curriculum innovation and policy development

Global Perspectives on Football in Africa Susann Baller, Giorgio Miescher, Ciraj Rassool, 2013-10-31 Football in many ways is a visual endeavour From the visual experience within the stadium itself to worldwide media representations from advertisements to football art and artefacts football is much about seeing and being seen about watching making visual and being visualised The FIFA World Cup 2010 in South Africa has turned into a perfect example of the visual dimensions of football Stadiums have been built and marketed as tourist attractions mass media and internet platforms are advertising South African cities and venues logos and emblems are displayed and celebrated exhibitions are organised in museums world wide This book explores the social cultural and political role of football in Africa by focusing on the issue of its visibility and invisibility The contributions consider the history and present of football in different parts of Africa They examine historical and recent pictures and images of football and football players as well as places and spaces of their production and perception They analyse the visual dimensions expressed in sports infrastructure football media scapes and in expressive and material arts This book thus contributes to the growing interest in football in Africa by exploring a new field of research into sports This book was previously published as a special issue of Soccer and Society

Disability in the Global Sport Arena Jill M. Le Clair, 2013-09-13 Sport is often at the centre of battles for rights to inclusion linked to class race and gender and this book explores struggles centred on disability in different cultural settings in Europe North America Africa Asia and Oceania It challenges oversights and assumptions about the normal body and describes how individual and organizational transformations can occur through sport The abilities of a person are recognised and placed centre stage instead of the individual being forgotten excluded or placed at the margins simply because they have a disability National regional and global change is part of the shift to the rights based approach reflected in the 2006 UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Making sport inclusive affects the accessibility of facilities funding the media policies programs organisations sponsors and spectators and at the same time changes the cultural values of the wider society It also raises issues about competition access and eligibility for different and technologically enhanced cyborg bodies and for those most socially disadvantaged Addressing these questions which ultimately touch on the real meaning of sport can lead to profound changes in people s attitudes and how sport is organized locally and globally Growth in the influential global organisations of the Paralympic Games Special Olympics and Deaflympics is examined as is the approach to disability in sport in both advantaged and resource poor countries The embodied lives of persons with disabilities are explored utilizing new theoretical models perspectives and approaches This book was previously published as a special issue of Sport in Society

The Ecology of Mangrove and Related Ecosystems Victor Jaccarini,Els Martens,2013-03-09 The mangrove seagrass and coral reef ecosystems are of paramount ecological importance but have already undergone great degradation which is advancing at an alarming rate If present trends continue the natural resource basis of the economy and ecology of tropical coastal regions will soon be ruined This was the unanimous conclusion of the 110 scientists from 23 countries who gathered in Mombasa Kenya for a Symposium on the ecology of these ecosystems Mangrove forest systems yield large amounts of fish crabs prawns and oysters They are also valuable sources of fuelwood timber tannin and other natural products Their non marketable value is of equal importance stabilization of the coastline an indispensable nursery ground for numerous marine species with commercial value a natural filter maintaining the clarity of nearshore water a home for resident and migratory birds and other wildlife Many of the true mangrove flora and fauna are now endangered by the clearing of the mangroves It has been shown that in many countries between 25 and 100% of the mangrove forest has been destroyed already in the last twenty years The international scientific assembly concluded that much can be done to stop the degradation of these damaged ecosystems and to rehabilitate them But new techniques must be found to use them on a sustainable basis for long term economic return and for the well being of coastal human settlements and a healthy environment

Africana Linguistica, 2017 Kenya Charles Hornsby, 2013-03-01 Since independence from Great Britain in 1963 Kenya has survived five decades as a functioning nation state holding regular elections its borders and political system intact and avoiding open war with its neighbours and military rule internally It has been a favoured site for Western aid trade investment and tourism and has remained a close security partner for Western governments However Kenya's successive governments have failed to achieve adequate living conditions for most of its citizens violence corruption and tribalism have been ever present and its politics have failed to transcend its history The decisions of the early years of independence and the acts of its leaders in the decades since have changed the country's path in unpredictable ways but key themes of conflicts remain over land money power economic policy national autonomy and the distribution of resources between classes and communities While the country's political institutions have remained stable the nation has changed its population increasing nearly five fold in five decades But the economic and political elite's struggle for state resources and the exploitation of ethnicity for political purposes still threaten the country's existence Today Kenyans are arguing over many of the issues that divided them 50 years ago The new constitution promulgated in 2010 provides an opportunity for national renewal but it must confront a heavy legacy of history This book reveals that history

Socioeconomics of Agriculture Stefan Mann, 2018-01-13 This open access book applies for the first time emerging concepts of socioeconomics to analyse an economic sector namely agriculture It considers the rational choices of all actors in the system just as agricultural economists do and their cultural preferences and constraints just as rural sociologists do Socioeconomic concepts are subsequently used to structure agricultural issues with regard to the three governance mechanisms hierarchy markets and cooperation and different agricultural systems are presented and compared The book will be of interest to social scientists with various backgrounds and seeks to break down the barriers of single disciplinary thinking

Global Education Monitoring Report Global Education Monitoring Report Team, UNESCO, 2021-12-31 Non state actors role extends beyond provision of schooling to interventions at various education levels and influence spheres Alongside its review of progress towards SDG 4 including emerging evidence on the COVID 19 pandemic's impact the 2021 2 Global Education Monitoring Report urges governments to see all institutions students and teachers as part of a single system Standards information incentives and accountability should help governments protect respect and fulfil the right to education of all without turning their eyes away from privilege or exploitation Publicly funded education does not have to be publicly provided but disparity in education processes student outcomes and teacher working conditions must be addressed Efficiency and innovation rather than being commercial secrets should be diffused and practised by all To that end transparency and integrity in the public education policy process need to be maintained to block vested interests The report s rallying call Who chooses Who loses invites policymakers to question relationships with non state actors in terms of fundamental choices between equity and freedom of choice between encouraging initiative and setting standards between groups of varying means and needs between immediate commitments under SDG 4 and those to be progressively realized e g post secondary education and between education and other social sectors

Trends in forest conditions and implications for resilience to climate change under differing forest governance regimes Russell, A., Waiswa, D., Owuor, B., Ongugo, P., Bomuhangi, A., Banana, A.Y., Kimondo, J.M., 2017-03-16 Mount Elgon is a transboundary East African montane ecosystem that harbors unique biological diversity and provides critical goods and services to the surrounding densely populated communities As a key water tower the effectiveness of forest and land management policies has direct impacts on agriculture hydropower fisheries and other sectors across large watersheds in Uganda and Kenya and onward to the whole Nile River basin The Uganda Wildlife Authority UWA the Kenya Wildlife Service KWS and the Kenya Forest Service KFS have developed a range of exclusionary protected area and partial access participatory forest management approaches to enforce national conservation mandates in different portions of the Mount Elgon The future resilience of forest assemblages will be challenged as climate change and increased variability in weather patterns interact that with societal interventions that may enable the introduction of exotic species the expansion of diseases The objective of this study was to assess the impact of different forest governance regimes on forest structure and composition over time 1997 2014 Two study sites in Uganda Kapkwai and Bufuma and Kenya Chorlem and Kimothon under differing forest governance arrangements were monitored from 1997 to 2014 using the International Forestry Resources and Institutions IFRI methodology Each forest unit was sampled three to four times 1997 2001 2 2008 2013 14 at 30 randomly established sample plots Data was collected on seedlings counts saplings and shrubs diameter at breast height DBH and height trees DBH and height and forest use This analysis of forest structure and composition included density basal area dominant species species richness and the Shannon Wiener species diversity index When comparing the outcomes for participatory forest management and centralized forest management in Uganda versus Kenya the results defy dogmatic generalizations as the outcomes differed in the two countries Furthermore this study highlighted the fragility of certain improvements in forest resilience In this respect recent declines in forest cover mean that these forest management regimes will need to continue improving their engagement with local communities in order to address both internal socioeconomic and urban private sector driven deterioration of Mount Elgon s forests This study also highlights the need for greater integration of development climate change adaptation and conservation climate change mitigation policies

Quality Assessment and Enhancement in Higher Education in Africa Peter Neema-Abooki, 2022-12-16 This book explores quality assessment and enhancement in higher education in Africa to illustrate the need to develop quality practices in measuring effective education and continually search for permanent improvement The book demonstrates that technological and socio economic trends innovations and inventions of the twenty first century demand that additional attention be placed upon education for national regional and international development Since conventions for quality assessment and enhancement need to be defined and systematic structures constructed to develop quality practices the book shows how quality in higher education within Africa has been established and advanced to provide a framework for monitoring auditing and reviewing assessment and enhancement Though the book considers African complexities and diversity it incorporates global trends and utilises an international focus that enables readers to devise appropriate strategies for developing and enhancing quality and standards in higher education in both continental Africa and beyond Illustrating why quality assessment and enhancement should be embraced in all aspects including inputs processes outputs and outcomes in educational settings globally this book will be of interest to policymakers and scholars in the fields of Higher Education Quality and Global Studies African Education African Studies and Management and Administration Leadership and Professional Development Studies

Digital Literacies Julia Gillen, 2014-04-16 With our increasing use of digital and online media the way we interact with these forms of communication is having an enormous impact on our literacy and learning In Digital Literacies Julia Gillen argues that to a substantial extent Linguistics has failed to rise to the opportunities presented by studying language in digital contexts Assuming no existing knowledge and drawing from a wide range of research projects she presents a range of approaches to the study of writing and reading language online Challenging some of the existing concepts Digital Literacies traces key ideas through both the history of literacy studies and contemporary approaches to language online including linguistic ethnography and corpus linguistics Examples taken from real life studies include the use of digital technologies in everyday life online teenage communities and professional use of Twitter in journalism Within each chapter the relevant research methods used are explored and then tied to the theory underpinning them This book is an innovative and essential read for all those studying and researching applied linguistics particularly in the areas of literacy and multimodality at an upper undergraduate and postgraduate level The title will also be of interest to those working with new media in the fields of Media and Communication Studies Cultural Psychology and Education
