The Long Road Home... Richard McKenzie Neal, 2009-11-18 By this point in our lives my target readers we've all heard the old adage You can't go home But what does it mean As life winds down and the drone of existence begins to wane I'm feeling an intangible desire or need to reach back into my past and reconnect with a bygone time and people living and or dead It feels like an elusive melody that seems distantly familiar yet strange and unidentifiable If all the above sounds like a premonition of the inevitable I agree and accept that my time is ticking away But it's not about dying it's about going home I'm not afraid of dying but I do struggle with the reality that I will no longer physically exist I have to wonder if the term going home isn't a misnomer and maybe just maybe we're trying to return to Neverland Fridays With Landon When we were very young we searched for that elusive utopian community and studies have shown that in our declining years we slowly revert to our childhood Another line of thought is that it's all just a mirage We know and accept that a man can be dying of thirst in the middle of the driest desert and his mind will anesthetize him by creating the illusion of an oasis If we can acknowledge that phenomenon the mind's coping mechanism then it shouldn't be much of a stretch to reason that the elderly possess those same innate coping capabilities to ease their journey home Of course their mirage would be about going home not to a place but to another time What is the driver for this apparently universal pilgrimage I have to wonder even compare it to an addict's motivation The Path to Addiction one more trip down that path of pleasant memories even as the host is being sacrificed
