Reading: read the first two sections on genetic variation in periplaneta americana (page 1) of the following questions. Respond to these prior understanding of the concepts discussed in the lecture.

1. Match each of the following changes in chromosome structure to its definition:

☒ A. Crossing

☐ B. Duplication

☐ C. Inversion

☐ D. Translocation

4. is fusion of 2 chromosomes (appears like an extra chromosome or more than 2n)

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with 4 pairs of chromosomes (pairs)? Explain your answer.

There are 16 genetically different gametes that can be produced (2 raised to the 4th power) as each chromosome pair is inherited with one chromosome or the other gamete is 2⁴ or 16 genetically different gametes

3. Although you inherit a combination of half from your parents, you recognize that some traits come to the fore independent of inheritance (for example, hair colour and eye colour). Why may some traits be inherited together?

These traits are linked together and travel on the same chromosome. Therefore, these are not passed separately or together, and a combination of genes only passed either. recombination sometimes these traits will be found with some other linkage in the genome, possibly, interacting with the linked together

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase 1, write the sequence:

homologous 1 homologous pairs and homologous chromosomes align together, called bivalents. This is a bivalent because it shows the pairing between sister and brother for the linked genes together

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomal polymorphism number? Describe two types of genetic disorders that can result from recombination.
