a lake drowned The town is shocked and fascinated by the tragedy and the police launch an investigation But as the mystery unfolds we find that the clues to Lydia Lee s untimely demise are embedded deep within the history of the girl s family At first the Lees seem like the perfect all American clan with sixteen year old Lydia as the flawless favored child However as the Lees mourn and desperately search for answers the ugly truth of the pursuit of perfection is revealed The Lees are mixed race Chinese and white family and in 1977 small town Ohio they stick out like a sore thumb Lydia s parents James and Marilyn each carry deep regrets James always longed to fit in and have friends and Marilyn dreamt of being among the ranks of the first woman doctors in America before pregnancy and marriage dashed her ambitions So instead they turned their hopes and expectations on Lydia forcing her to resort to lies and deception to keep them happy Meanwhile their other children Nath and Hannah watched from the fringes knowing they would never have their parents full attention But Nath knew that Lydia was buckling under the pressure and something had to give This novel bounces back and forth in time detailing the investigation in Lydia s death alongside the Lee s backstory Each of the remaining family members is keeping secrets from the others and each holds a piece of the puzzle Don t expect a stereotypical thriller with this book Instead Celeste Ng beautifully reveals the struggle of new kind of family desperately seeking acceptance in America as well as the darker side of parental pride and ambition This is a highly entertaining and thought provoking read that will linger in your mind long after you put it down Available on PC Mac smart phone tablet or Kindle device c 2015 All Rights Reserved breadth of information about Asian American literary and cultural history as well as the authors and texts that best define it. A dozen contextual essays introduce fundamental elements or subcategories of Asian American literature expanding on social and literary concerns or tensions that are familiar and relevant. Essays include the origins and development of the term Asian American, overviews of Asian American and Asian Canadian social and literary histories, essays on Asian American identity, gender issues and sexuality, and discussions of Asian American rhetoric and children's literature. More than 120 alphabetical entries round out the volume and cover important Asian North American authors. Historical information is presented in clear and engaging ways, and author entries emphasize biographical or textual details that are significant to contemporary young adults. Special attention has been given to pioneering authors from the late 19th century through the early 1970s and to influential or well known contemporary authors, especially those likely to be studied in high school or university classrooms.

Disrespected Neighbour(s) Uwe Zagratzki, 2018-07-27 Neighbourly relations frequently position a self against an Other. This is the case for both individuals and nations and indeed within the various cultural groups of a nation. Our racial, ethnic, social or gender identities are often created in demarcating ourselves by stereotyping the Other. Disrespect of the immediate neighbour based on stereotypical pre-conceptions and cultural biases may lie dormant for a long time and then, as shown in recent conflicts around the globe, suddenly surface due to changed economic and political conditions. Media, including films and fictional as well as non-fictional texts, feature prominently in producing, propagating and maintaining cultural difference and stereotypes in ideologically effective ways. This volume analyses representations from various angles as it comprises articles dealing with ethnic groups and neighbourhoods from three world areas as well as genres and media instrumental to their respective cultural stereotyping. This focus on literary and media representations of the neighbourly Other from miscellaneous cultural environments results in a comprehensive understanding of analogies and differences in the mechanisms of production and perception of stereotypes. Addressing the manifold discourses at the heart of stereotyping the familiar Other, the book also points to their far-reaching repercussions on lived cultural practices. The Cambridge Companion to Twenty-First Century American Fiction Joshua Miller, 2021-09-23 This volume explores the most exciting trends in 21st century US fiction's genres, themes and concepts. Radical Empathy in Multicultural Women's Fiction

Lara Narcisi, 2023-07-25 Fiction provides the possibility for radical empathy by connecting us with strangers and Radical Empathy in Multicultural Women's Fiction. From the Library to Liberation both analyzes and embodies this phenomenon by putting women novelists of color in conversation with one another. Foregrounding the growing importance of intersectionality studies, this book considers how race, gender and class interact for each author. In our increasingly fragmented national dialogue, this approach is unique and timely, demonstrating how novels can transform how we understand ourselves and act towards others. Each chapter compares a contemporary female author to an earlier canonical author of her ethnic background, depicting the dialogues that authors have across the decades. Each conversation focuses on an intersectional question How has culturally enforced silence impacted Asian women writers How can the American road trip narrative provide Black men access to their pasts How do poverty and gentrification impact Chicana coming of age stories Finally the book facilitates a dialogue across ethnic categories considering what commonalities all women writers of color share in the contemporary United States and how their conversations can reach and impact readers to take the crucial step from empathy to action in their own communities
