War and Genocide in South Sudan Clémence Pinaud, 2021-02-15 Using more than a decade's worth of fieldwork in South Sudan Clémence Pinaud here explores the relationship between predatory wealth accumulation state formation and a form of racism extreme ethnic group entitlement that has the potential to result in genocide War and Genocide in South Sudan traces the rise of a predatory state during civil war in southern Sudan and its transformation into a violent Dinka ethnocracy after the region's formal independence That new state Pinaud argues waged genocide against non Dinka civilians in 2013 2017 During a civil war that wrecked the region between 1983 and 2005 the predominantly Dinka Sudan People's Liberation Army SPLA practiced ethnically exclusive and predatory wealth accumulation Its actions fostered extreme group entitlement and profoundly shaped the rebel state Ethnic group entitlement eventually grew into an ideology of ethnic supremacy After that war ended the semi autonomous state turned into a violent and predatory ethnocracy a process accelerated by independence in 2011 The rise of exclusionary nationalism a new security landscape and inter ethnic political competition contributed to the start of a new round of civil war in 2013 in which the recently founded state unleashed violence against nearly all non Dinka ethnic groups Pinaud investigates three campaigns waged by the South Sudan government in 2013 2017 and concludes they were genocidal they sought to destroy non Dinka target groups She demonstrates how the perpetrators sense of group entitlement culminated in land grabs that amounted to a genocidal conquest echoing the imperialist origins of modern genocides Thanks to generous funding from TOME the ebook editions of this book are available as Open Access volumes from Cornell Open cornellpress.cornell.edu/cornell-open and other repositories

South Sudan's Injustice System Rachel Ibreck, 2019-08-30 Coming into existence amid a wave of optimism in 2011 South Sudan has since slid into violence and conflict Even in the face of escalating civil war however the people of the country continue to fight for justice despite a widespread culture of corruption and impunity Drawing on extensive new research Rachel Ibreck examines people's lived experiences as they navigate South Sudan's fledgling justice system as well as the courageous efforts of lawyers activists and ordinary citizens to assert their rights and hold the government to account In doing so the author reveals how justice plays out in a variety of settings from displacement camps to chiefs courts and in cases ranging from communal land disputes to the country's turbulent peace process Based on a collaborative research project carried out with South Sudanese activists and legal practitioners the book also demonstrates the value of conducting researching with rather than simply about those affected by conflict At heart this is a people's story of South Sudan what works in this troubled country is what people do for themselves

microhistory has radical implications for understanding history and politics and applies this notion to Sudan Against a historiography dominated by elite actors and international agents it examines both how ordinary people have brought about the most important political shifts in the country's history including the recent revolution in 2019 and how they have played a role in maintaining authoritarian regimes It also explores how men and women have led their daily lives through a web of ordinary worries desires and passions The book includes contributions by historians anthropologists and political scientists who often have a dual commitment to Middle Eastern and African studies While focusing on the complexity and nuances of Sudanese local lives in both the past and the present it also connects Sudan and South Sudan with broader regional global and imperial trends The book is divided into two volumes and six parts ordered thematically The first part tackles the entanglement between archives social history and power The second focuses on women's agency in history and politics from the Funj era to the recent 2018 2019 revolution Part 3 includes contributions on the history and global connections of the Sudanese armed forces In the second volume part 4 intersects the themes of urban life leisure and colonial attitudes with queerness In part 5 labour identities practices and institutions are discussed both in urban milieus and against the background of war and expropriation in rural areas Finally part 6 studies the construction of social consent under various self-styled Islamic regimes as well as the emergence of alternative imaginaries and acts of citizenship in times of political openness

Educating for Durable Solutions Christine Monaghan, 2021-04-08 What is education for an unknowable future In Educating for Durable Solutions Christine Monaghan explores how refugees and policymakers have answered this question over time by reconstructing the contemporary history of education in Kenya's Dadaab and Kakuma refugee camps Through oral histories and archival research Monaghan shows how since the founding of both camps in 1991 refugees and policymakers have conceptualized developed implemented and changed refugee education programs She also shows why and how despite these changes real challenges persist in refugee education in Dadaab Kakuma and other camps throughout the world these include high numbers of out of school children and youth high student to teacher ratios unpredictable funding and persistent questions regarding what refugee education is for The author shifts focus from debates over the impacts of specific policies and programs and explores instead how and why different policies and programs were implemented whether they led to meaningful changes in the long standing challenges of refugee education She finds that when and where real changes occurred individuals or small groups of refugees and policymakers acted with tremendous agency and as tireless advocates
