Books in Print Supplement, 2002 Regression with Dummy Variables Melissa A. Hardy, 1993-02-25 It is often necessary for social scientists to study differences in groups such as gender or race differences in attitudes buying behavior or socioeconomic characteristics When the researcher seeks to estimate group differences through the use of independent variables that are qualitative dummy variables allow the researcher to represent information about group membership in quantitative terms without imposing unrealistic measurement assumptions on the categorical variables. Beginning with the simplest model, Hardy probes the use of dummy variable regression in increasingly complex specifications, exploring issues such as interaction, heteroscedasticity, multiple comparisons, and significance testing; the use of effects or contrast coding; testing for curvilinearity; and estimating a piecewise linear regression.

Research on Migrant Children's Educational Choices and Fiscal Policy Hui Zhang, 2021-05-20

Drawing from global insights and the education supply and demand theory, this book investigates migrant children's education in China as well as the educational financial policies, which serves as both a background and possible solutions. From a comparative perspective, the education fiscal policies regarding issues with migrant immigrant students and inequality in the United States and Europe were first examined before a comprehensive theoretical framework is constructed to evaluate the government and public schools' input and migrant children's educational demand in China. Their school choices, academic performances, educational choices, and impact factors from the perspectives of class, gender, society, and family are then discussed in depth. By tracing back to previous fiscal policies regarding migrant children in China and local policies in Beijing, Shanghai, Guangzhou, and Shenzhen, the author further interrogates the existing challenges, possible strategies, and solutions. This book will appeal to scholars of education, economics, education policy, educational equality, and those who are generally interested in Chinese education and society.
