Life Science Paper Kzn Prelim 2014:

Curriculum and the Specialization of Knowledge Michael Young, Johan Muller, 2015-09-07 This book presents a new way for educators at all levels from early years to university to think about curriculum priorities. It focuses on the curriculum as a form of specialised knowledge optimally designed to enable students to gain access to the best knowledge available in any field. Papers jointly written by the authors over the last eight years are revised for this volume. It draws on the sociology of knowledge and in particular the work of Emile Durkheim and Basil Bernstein opening up the possibilities for collaborative inter disciplinary enquiry with historians, philosophers and psychologists. Although primarily directed to researchers, university teachers and graduate students, its arguments about specialised knowledge have profound implications for policy makers.

Re-Authoring Life Narratives After Trauma: A Holistic Narrative Model of Care Charles B. Manda, 2019-12-12 Re-authoring Life Narratives after Trauma is an interdisciplinary specialist resource for traumatic stress researchers, practitioners and frontline workers who focus their research and work on communities from diverse religious backgrounds that are confronted with trauma, death, illness and other existential crises. This book aims to argue that the biopsychosocial approach is limited in scope when it comes to reaching a holistic model of assessing and treating individuals and communities that are exposed to trauma. The holistic model must integrate an understanding of and respect for the many forms of religion and spirituality that clients might have. Pargament 2011. It will not only bring a spiritual perspective into the psychotherapeutic dialogue but it will also assist in dealing with the different demands in pastoral ministry as related to clinical and post-traumatic settings. The book makes several contributions to scholarship in the disciplines of, although not limited to, traumatic stress studies, pastoral care and counselling, psychology and psychiatry. Firstly, the book brings spirituality into the psychotherapeutic dialogue. Traditionally, religious and spiritual topics have not been a welcome part of the psychotherapeutic dialogue. Secondly, it underscores the significance of documenting literary narratives as a means of healing trauma. Writing about our traumas enables us to express things that cannot be conveyed in words and to bring to light what has been suppressed and imagine new possibilities of living meaningfully in a changed world. Thirdly, it proposes an extension to the five-stage model of trauma and recovery coined by Judith Herman.

Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education. It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe, Western Europe, North Africa, South Africa, North America, South America, Middle East, Far East, South East Asia, Australia and New Zealand. Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories: a) understanding the interrelationships among cognitive, affective, epistemological and religious factors that are related to people's views about evolution; b) designing/implementing/evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding; and c) reducing antievolutionary attitudes. This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross cultural meta analysis Written for a primarily academic audience this book provides a much needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe The Next Generation of Scientists in Africa Catherine Beaudry,Johann Mouton,2018-11-23 Young scientists are a powerful resource for change and sustainable development as they drive innovation and knowledge creation However comparable findings on young scientists in various countries especially in Africa and developing regions are generally sparse Therefore empirical knowledge on the state of early career scientists is critical in order to address current challenges faced by those scientists in Africa This book reports on the main findings of a three and a half year international project in order to assist its readers in better understanding the African research system in general and more specifically its young scientists The first part of the book provides background on the state of science in Africa and bibliometric findings concerning Africas scientific production and networks for the period 2005 to 2015 The second part of the book combines the findings of a large scale quantitative survey and more than 200 qualitative interviews to provide a detailed profile of young scientists and the barriers they face in terms of five aspects of their careers research output funding mobility collaboration and mentoring In each case field and gender differences are also taken into account The last part of the book comprises conclusions and recommendations to relevant policy and decision makers on desirable changes to current research systems in Africa Errorless 12 Years

Tribing and Untribing the Archive Carolyn Hamilton,Nessa Leibhammer,2016 These volumes track how the domain of the tribal and traditional was marked out and came to be sharply distinguished from modernity how it was denied a changing history and an archive and was endowed instead with a timeless culture These volumes also offer strategies for engaging with the materials differently from the interventions effected in contemporary artworks to the inserting of nameless timeless objects of material culture into histories of individualized and politicized experience Publisher's description Coping With Environmental Fluctuations: Ecological and Evolutionary Perspectives Sylvain Giroud,Julia Nowack,Kenneth B.

Outside Justice David C Brotherton,Daniel L Stageman,Shirley P

Leyro, 2013-05-27 Outside Justice Undocumented Immigrants and the Criminal Justice System fills a clear gap in the scholarly literature on the increasing conceptual overlap between popular perceptions of immigration and criminality and its reflection in the increasing practical overlap between criminal justice and immigration control systems Drawing on data from the United States and other nations scholars from a range of academic disciplines examine the impact of these trends on the institutions communities and individuals that are experiencing them Individual entries address criminal victimization and labor exploitation of undocumented immigrant communities the effects of parental detention and deportation on children remaining in destination countries relations between immigrant communities and law enforcement agencies and the responses of law enforcement agencies to drastic changes in immigration policy among other topics Taken as a whole these essays chart the ongoing progression of social forces that will determine the well being of Western democracies throughout the 21st century In doing so they set forth a research agenda for reexamining and challenging the goals of converging criminal justice and immigration control policy and raise a number of carefully considered ethical alternatives to the contemporary policy status quo Contemporary immigration is the focus of highly charged rhetoric and policy innovation both attempting to define the movement of people across national borders as fundamentally an issue of criminal justice This realignment has had profound effects on criminal justice policy and practice and immigration control alike and raises far reaching implications for social inclusion labor economies community cohesion and a host of other areas of immediate interest to social science researchers and practitioners
