North American Aviation P-51 Mustang

Robert Jackson, 2020-09-30 The North American P 51 Mustang was one of the most successful and effective fighter aircraft of all time It was initially produced in response to a 1940 RAF requirement for a fast heavily armed fighter able to operate effectively at altitudes in excess of 20 000ft North America built the prototype in 117 days and the aircraft designated NA 73X flew on 26 October 1940 The first of 320 production Mustang Is for the RAF flew on 1 May 1941 powered by a 1 100hp Allison V 1710 39 engine RAF test pilots soon found that with this powerplant the aircraft did not perform well at high altitude but that its low level performance was excellent It was when the Mustang airframe was married to a Packard built Rolls Royce Merlin engine that the aircraft's true excellence became apparent Possessing a greater combat radius than any other Allied single engine fighter it became synonymous with the Allied victory in the air During the last eighteen months of the war in Europe escorting bomber formations it hounded the Luftwaffe to destruction in the very heart of Germany In the Pacific operating from advance bases it ranged over the Japanese Home Islands joining carrier borne fighters such as the Grumman Hellcat to bring the Allies massive air superiority Yet the Mustang came about almost by accident a product of the Royal Air Force's urgent need for new combat aircraft in the dark days of 1940 when Britain fighting for survival turned to the United States for help in the island nation's darkest hour Ford Mustang Restoration: 1964 1/2-1973 Dave

Big-Block Parts Interchange George Reid,2017-12-15 Over the course of performance car history and specifically muscle car history big block engines are particularly beloved and for good reason Not only are they the essence of what a muscle car is but before modern technology and stroker engines they were also the best way to make a lot of horsepower All of the Detroit manufacturers had their versions of big block engines and Ford was no exception Actually Ford was somewhat unique in that it had two very different big block engine designs during the muscle car era The FE engine was a design pioneered in the late 1950s primarily as a more powerful replacement for the dated Y block design because cars were becoming bigger and heavier and therefore necessitated more power to move What started as torquey engines meant to move heavyweight sedans morphed into screaming high performance mills that won Le Mans and drag racing championships through the 1960s By the late 1960s the design was dated so Ford replaced the FE design with the 385 series also known as the Lima design which was more similar to the canted valve Cleveland design being pioneered at the same time It didn't share the 1960s pedigree of racing success but the new design was better in almost every way it exists via Ford motorsports offerings to this day In Ford Big Block Parts Interchange Ford expert and historian George Reid covers both engines completely Interchange and availability for all engine components are covered including cranks rods pistons camshafts engine blocks intake and exhaust manifolds carburetors distributors and more Expanding from the previous edition of High Performance Ford Parts Interchange that covered both small and big block engines in one volume this book cuts out the small block information and devotes every page to the FE Series and 385 big blocks from Ford which allows for more complete and extensive coverage p1 margin 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px font 12 0px Arial Ford Parts Interchange Manual, 1959-1970 Paul A.
