On My Own Xueli Wang, 2021-02-18 2020 ASHE Council for the Advancement of Higher Education Programs CAHEP Barbara Townsend Lecture Award 2021 Transfer Champion Catalyst Award from the National Institute for the Study of Transfer Students NISTS 2021 Outstanding Publication Award AERA Division J Publication and Research On My Own The Challenge and Promise of Building Equitable STEM Transfer Pathways is the first book of its kind to provide a detailed on the ground examination of the difficult paths curricular interpersonal and institutional that students must chart through community college The book follows 1 670 two year college students over four years as they begin STEM programs in the Midwest and documents their educational and life experiences as they moved toward or away from the prospect of transfer to a four year institution Their stories reveal that they were on their own left to navigate the pathways to transfer without meaningful institutional support The students pursued one of four pathways or momentum trajectories linear upward detoured deferred or taking a break The preexisting and lasting disparities in their access to education and financial resources their experiences with teaching and advising and the conundrum between support from and for family among others propelled them onto different trajectories in their quest for transfer As this book makes painfully clear the current state of transfer acts as a mechanism that perpetuates and worsens inequities in educational outcomes As Xueli Wang argues to cultivate an equitable STEM transfer pathway culturally relevant and responsive supports that are accessible welcoming and validating must be put in place at the institutional level and appeal to the talent motivation and unique needs of historically marginalized students In doing so postsecondary institutions will be better positioned to fulfill their promise as an equitable pathway to bachelor s degrees and beyond

The Wiley Handbook of Early Childhood Development Programs, Practices, and Policies Elizabeth Votruba-Drzal, Eric Dearing, 2017-01-30 The first and only comprehensive review of current early childhood development theory practices policies and the science behind them This unique and important book provides a comprehensive overview of the current theory practices and policies in early childhood development within the contexts of family school and community and society at large Moreover it synthesizes scientifically rigorous research from an array of disciplines in an effort to identify the most effective strategies for promoting early childhood development Research into childhood development is booming and the scientific knowledge base concerning early childhood development is now greater than that of any other stage of the human life span At the same time efforts to apply that knowledge to early childhood practices programs and policies have never been greater or more urgent Yet surprisingly until The Handbook of Early Childhood Development Programs Practices and Policies there was no comprehensive critical review of the applied science in the field The book begins with in depth coverage of child and family approaches From there it moves onto a consideration of school and community based strategies It concludes with a discussion of current social policies on health and development in early childhood and their implications Provides a comprehensive overview of the state of the knowledge base along with guidance for the future of the field Examines the underlying theory and basic science guiding efforts to promote early childhood development Critically reviews the strength of the empirical support for individual practices programs and policies Explores key opportunities and barriers policymakers and practitioners face when implementing various approaches Pays particular attention to socioeconomically disadvantaged and other disenfranchised populations The Handbook of Early Childhood Development Programs Practices and Policies is a valuable resource for practitioners scholars graduate students and advanced undergraduate students across the social sciences who are interested in strengthening their understanding of current strategies for promoting early childhood development and the science informing those strategies
