arbitration      Transnational Terrorism Steven M. Chermak, 2019-11-11 The dramatic terrorist attacks of 9 11 highlighted significant gaps in research on the topic as governments community groups social service agencies and law enforcement agencies were forced to respond without any evidence based guidance on best practices for tactics strategies and policy development The essays selected for this volume demonstrate that transnational terrorism is now a thriving area of study and display the breadth and depth of scholarship that has recently been published The research draws attention to global patterns of transnational terrorism highlights various structural and cultural explanations provides an overview of some of the ways that terrorism impacts society and discusses strategies used to effectively respond to transnational terrorism This volume which is of interest to academics policymakers and practitioners provides a repository of some of the best contemporary research in this field      The Influence of Blockholders on Agency Costs and Firm Value Markus P.

Urban, 2015-11-04 Markus P Urban investigates the influence of large shareholders the so called blockholders on agency costs and firm value thereby accounting for blockholder characteristics and blockholder interrelationships The work provides a profound theoretical and empirical analysis on the nature and effect of shareholder engagement with due regard to the specifics of the German institutional environment Its empirical results illustrate that the effect of shareholder engagement depends on the characteristics of the specific blockholder as well as on interrelationships with additional blockholders

Employee Stock Option Compensation Florian Wolff, 2012-12-06 Over the last years stock options have become an integral part of the compensation of senior managers in Germany Originating in the USA in the 1950s this form of compensation gained increasing popularity among German corporations during the 1990s so that by today far over 100 German listed companies grant stock option plans to their employees Based on recent research the average German CEO Vorstandsvorsitzender receives approximately 10% of his salary in form of stock options The ongoing globalisations of business practises as well as the boom of the Neuer Markt have been key drivers of this development Initially from an economic perspective the increasing importance of stock option plans in the compensation of senior managers has to be welcomed Assuming that senior managers through their actions have the ability to influence the stock price of their companies stock options represent a performance based type of pay that improves the incentives to senior managers to create additional shareholder value However this perspective often neglects the potential costs created by such an incentive instrument Several research studies suggest that companies in some cases generate additional costs through the granting of stock options that can exceed the benefits created by their incentive effect      Towards a New Paradigm for Statistical

Evidence Jae H. (Paul) Kim, Muhammad Ishaq Bhatti, 2021-08-31 Many scientists now widely agree that the current paradigm of statistical significance should be abandoned or largely modified In response to these calls for change a Special Issue of Econometrics MDPI has been proposed This book is a collection of the articles that have been published in this Special Issue These seven articles add new insights to the problem and propose new methods that lay a solid foundation for the new paradigm for statistical significance
