

My Personal Philosophy Of Education

As a student at Mercy College and an upcoming Teacher, what is important to me is fully gaining knowledge from my education that will prepare me to be the best possible teacher. Being a student can be very tough in many ways. Handling the work workload that is given to us, the number of essays we have to write, and the homework assignments we have to do can bring a lot of tension stress and painful headaches. One thing I learned from the college experience that is going to stick with me for life is that the workload can be very hard to handle, but after it's done and I gain knowledge, I will feel very blessed and very happy with the amount of work that I did. Honestly speaking, that is the best thing I have learned as a student. Doing all the work and gaining knowledge and using that in my everyday life is a privilege. Not all people get to go to school or get to go to college and learn subjects or gain knowledge from teachers or from some of the best professors that the school has to offer. Also, it's very important for us as students to build a connection with our professors and show them every student in the classroom wants to learn from them and wants to be as successful as they can. In my opinion, professors are some of the best people out there; if we really think about it, it is professors who are the reason each year young people like me and other college students from all over the world are graduating and going on to do the jobs that they love. Professors are the reason why people in the world are so successful and knowledgeable, and it honestly hurts me to say that they don't get enough recognition or not enough respect or all the love that they deserve. It is very important for professors to feel the connection with their students and treat them as daughters and sons that they want to see succeed. It is also very important for professors to make sure their students get the education that they need to be successful in life.

My Philosophy Of Education Paper:

Jesse Stuart On Education J.R. LeMaster, 2021-12-14 Could a man who never earned a master's degree tell the nation's teachers and administrators how to run their schools? Jesse Stuart, who had a life-long love of education, did just that. From Stuart's autobiographical works, J.R. LeMaster has chosen selections that demonstrate his philosophy of learning and teaching and his philosophy of life. The selections establish a loose chronology of events in Stuart's lifelong education and describe his experience as preschooler, student, teacher, and school administrator. This multiple perspective, LeMaster suggests, is essential to understanding the process we call education, a process Jesse Stuart located in nature, believing that human beings are first and foremost natural beings and only incidentally cultural beings. That is, while we belong to an order of human beings, we also belong to a larger order, a universe of living things. In his general introduction, LeMaster discusses Stuart's life and philosophy, providing the reader with a backdrop against which to study selections from Beyond Dark Hills, The Thread That Runs So True, The Year of My Rebirth, God's Oddling, Mr. Gallion's School, To Teach To Love, and other Stuart works. Each excerpt is illumined by LeMaster's discussion of its place in Stuart's philosophy of education. Those concerned with the apparent breakdown of the American educational system will find much to consider in LeMaster's discussion of the implications of Stuart's views on education. He contends that the present crisis in our schools stems from an inadequate philosophy for living and that Jesse Stuart, who believed education was a natural development, knew as much all along.

Essays in the Philosophy of Education Celeste Ordas-Botor, 1995 Readings in Philosophy of Education Evelina M. Orteza y Miranda, 1999 Leaders in Philosophy of Education, 2008-01-01 Since the 1960s we have witnessed the development of philosophy of education as a vital intellectual field. Beginning with the work of Israel Scheffler at Harvard and spreading rapidly to the United Kingdom under the influence of R.S. Peters and Paul Hirst at the London Institute of Education, analytical philosophers of education worked toward a new understanding of such central educational concepts as teaching, learning, explanation, curriculum, aims and objectives, freedom and authority, equality and liberal education. They also examined theoretical issues in educational research and critiqued reigning ideas in educational psychology. By the 1970s interest in the analysis of educational concepts and research methods had waned. A new generation of philosophers of education turned to new issues, including intellectual and practical virtues, individual well-being, the education of girls and women, the ethics of care, creative thinking and imagination, multicultural education, globalization, and many others. In this book, 24 leading philosophers of education since 1970, who remain influential today, present the fascinating stories of their lives and important new contributions to the field. They trace their early experiences, initial encounters with philosophy and philosophy of education, creative directions in their work, mature ideas and perceptions of future directions for the field. Each chapter contains a list of works chosen by the authors as their personal favorites. Reason and Education H. Siegel, 2012-12-06 Israel Scheffler is the pre-eminent philosopher of education in the English-speaking world today. This volume collects seventeen original invited papers on Scheffler's philosophy of education by scholars from around the world. The papers address the wide range of topics that Scheffler's work in philosophy of education has addressed including the aims of education, cognition and emotion, teaching the language of education, science education, moral education, religious education, and human potential. Each paper is followed by a response from Scheffler himself. The collection is essential reading for anyone concerned with contemporary scholarship in philosophy of education or with the place of this singularly important author in it.

The Aims of Education Roger Marples, 2012-10-12 Here international philosophers of education explore and question diverse strains of the liberal tradition discussing not only autonomy but other key issues such as social justice, national identity, curriculum, critical thinking, social practices. The contributors write from a variety of standpoints offering many interpretations of what liberalism might mean in educational terms.

Educational Judgments (International Library of the Philosophy of Education Volume 9) F. Doyle James, 2010-02-25 The topics covered in this volume originally published in 1973 include the need for a more adequate concept or definition of education, the issue of whether indoctrination is compatible with education, particularly with moral education, and the processes of judging the merits of different approaches to aesthetic education. Two contributors present complementary analyses of the relations between freedom as a characteristic of institutions and the process of learning to be a free man. There is discussion of the neglected subject of rights and duties in education with special emphasis on the question of a universal right to education. The volume concludes with papers on the relevance of philosophy to the practical judgments of educators and to education as a field of study.

Education's Epistemology Harvey Siegel, 2017-09-08 Education's Epistemology extends and further defends Harvey Siegel's reasons conception of critical thinking. It analyzes and emphasizes both the epistemic quality and the dispositions and character traits that constitute the critical spirit that are central to a proper account of critical thinking. Siegel argues that that epistemic quality must be understood ultimately in terms of epistemic rationality. Siegel defends a conception of rationality that involves both rules and judgment and argues that critical thinking has normative value over and above its instrumental tie to truth. Siegel also argues contrary to currently popular multiculturalist thought for both transcultural and universal philosophical ideals including those of multiculturalism and critical thinking themselves.

The Incomplete Eco-Philosopher Anthony Weston, 2009-01-15 Collected essays present Weston's pragmatic environmental philosophy calling for reconstruction and imagination rather than deconstruction and analysis.

International Library of the Philosophy of Education Charles Bailey, 2021-07-09 International Library of the Philosophy of Education reprints twenty-four distinguished texts published in this field over the last half century and includes works by authors such as Reginald D. Archambault, Charles Bailey, Robin Barrow, Norman J. Bull, D. E. Cooper, R. F. Dearden, Kieran Egan, D. W. Hamlyn, Paul H. Hirst, Glenn Langford, D. J. O'Connor, T. W. Moore, D. A. Nyberg, R. W. K. Paterson, R. S. Peters, Kenneth A. Strike, I. A. Snook, John and Patricia White, and John Wilson. Themes discussed include Liberal education, moral education, the aims of education, the education of teachers adult continuing education and the philosophical analysis of education Being and Learning

Eduardo M. Duarte, 2012-10-17 Education is not an art of putting sight into the eye that can already see but one of turning the eye towards the proper gaze of Being That is what must be managed Plato insists This claim is the take off point for Eduardo Duarte's meditations on the metaphysics and ontology of teaching and learning In Being and Learning he offers an account of learning as an attunement with Being's dynamic presencing and unconcealment which Duarte explores as the capacity to respond and attend to the matter that stands before us or in Arendtian terms to love the world and to be with others in this world This book of poetic thinking is a chronicle of Duarte's ongoing exploration of the question of Being a philosophical journey that has been guided primarily through a conversation with Heidegger and which also includes the voices of Plato Aristotle Heraclitus Nietzsche as well Lao Tzu and the Buddha among others In Being and Learning Duarte undertakes a phenomenology of the original a writing that consciously and conspicuously interrupts the discursive field of work in philosophy of education As the late Reiner Schurmann described this method it recalls the ancient beginnings and it anticipates a new beginning the possible rise of a new economy among things words and actions Being and Learning is a work of parrhesia a composition of free thought that disrupts the conventional practice of philosophy of education and thereby open up gaps and spaces of possibility in the arrangement of words concepts and ideas in the field With this work Eduardo Duarte is initiating new pathways of thinking about education The Road Traveled and Other Essays Steven M.

Cahn, 2018-12-26 The Road Traveled and Other Essays presents the recent work of philosopher and educator Steven M Cahn This book offers his latest reflections on the nature of well being the rationality of religious belief and the aims of higher education Also included are a selection of his challenging philosophical puzzles The work concludes with a detailed account of his career as a faculty member foundation executive and university administrator Patrick Suppes R.

Bogdan, 2012-12-06 The aim of this series is to inform both professional philosophers and a larger readership of social and natural scientists methodologists mathematicians students teachers publishers etc about what is going on who's who and who does what in contemporary philosophy and logic PROFILES is designed to present the research activity and the results of already outstanding personalities and schools and of newly emerging ones in the various fields of philosophy and logic There are many Festschrift volumes dedicated to various philosophers There is the celebrated Library of Living Philosophers edited by P A Schilpp whose format influenced the present enterprise Still they can only cover very little of the contemporary philosophical scene Faced with a tremendous expansion of philosophical information and with an almost frightening division of labor and increasing specialization we need systematic and regular ways of keeping track of what happens in the profession PROFILES is intended to perform such a function Each volume is devoted to one or several philosophers whose views and results are presented and discussed The profiled philosopher's will summarize and review his their own work in the main fields of significant contribution This work will be discussed and evaluated by invited contributors Relevant historical and or biographical data an up to date bibliography with short abstracts of the most important works and whenever possible references to significant reviews and discussions will also be included

Education in an Age of Lies and Fake News Jānis (John) Tālivaldis Ozoliņš, 2021-09-05 The post truth world in which we live has been beset by fake news lies and a cavalier disregard for truth If truth is neglected then an alternative is an appeal to the emotions in order to validate a particular position which can quickly turn to the use of power to impose a particular view The loss of truth results in the loss of freedom This book contends that if we want to preserve our freedom then we have a serious obligation to pursue truth One way to do this is through an adequate moral education Education in an Age of Lies and Fake News Regaining a Love of Truth makes an argument for the importance of truth It explores how we can retrieve the concept of truth and how moral education can be deployed in order to re establish a commitment to truth It introduces Eastern perspectives on the question of truth and how we view reality and presents a realist position on the nature of truth as a counter to scepticism drawing on Augustine and Thomas Aquinas amongst others Further the chapters are mindful of the significance of developing a pedagogy which not only enables students to be critical thinkers but to foster a genuine concern for truth and for its pursuit This book will be essential reading for students educators philosophers and researchers pursuing the question of truth in the modern age
