conjunction with the Wasserstein distance is a suitable approach for the fast simulation of HGCal data. Instead of sequential simulation, a deep neural network based generative model generates all calorimeter energy depositions simultaneously. This generator network is optimised through an adversarial training process using a critic network guided by the Wasserstein distance. The developed framework in this thesis is applied to both GEANT4 simulated electromagnetic showers and to positron data from the beam tests. Ultimately, this fast simulation approach is up to four orders of magnitude faster than sequential simulation with GEANT4. It is able to produce realistic calorimeter energy depositions from electromagnetic showers incorporating their fluctuations and correlations when converted into typical calorimeter observables. Energy
