Induced plant responses to microbes and insects Corné M. J. Pieterse, Marcel Dicke, Saskia C. M. Van Wees, Erik H. Poelman, 2014-04-14 Plants are members of complex communities and interact both with antagonists and beneficial organisms An important question in plant defense signaling research is how plants integrate signals induced by pathogens insect herbivores and beneficial microbes into the most appropriate adaptive response Molecular and genomic tools are now being used to uncover the complexity of the induced defense signaling networks that have evolved during the arms races between plants and the other organisms with which they intimately interact To understand the functioning of the complex defense signaling network in nature molecular biologists and ecologists have joined forces to place molecular mechanisms of induced plant defenses in an ecological perspective In this Research Topic we aim to provide an on line open access snapshot of the current state of the art of the field of induced plant responses to microbes and insects with a special focus on the translation of molecular mechanisms to ecology and vice versa MTG 22 Years Previous Year Papers JEE Main Mathematics (For 2024 Exam) MTG Learning Media, MTG s 22 Years JEE Main Chapterwise Topicwise Solutions Mathematics is a humongous question bank created for students aspiring for JEE Main 2024 This chapter wise topic wise ebook comprises of previous 22 years of AIEEE 2012 2002 JEE MAIN 2023 2013 question papers The ebook exhaustively covers all the offline and online papers asked in each session of JEE Main since 2021 February September 2021 January July 2022 and January April 2023 The answer key and hints explanations in each chapter help in providing concept clearance in each topic at the time of practice Out of The Blue, Young Reader's Edition

Plasticity of primary afferent neurons and sensory processing after spinal cord injury Alexander Rabchevsky,Jeffrey C. Petruska, Charles Hubscher,2015-01-05 Traumatic injury of the spinal cord affects the entire organism directly and indirectly Primary injury destroys neurons and severs axons which participate in neural circuits Secondary injuries and pathologies arise from numerous sources including systemic inflammation consequential damage of cutaneous muscular and visceral tissues and dysregulation of autonomic endocrine and sensory motor functions Evidence is mounting that spinal cord injury SCI affects regions of the nervous system spatially remote from the injury site as well as peripheral tissues and alters some basic characteristics of primary afferent cell biology and physiology cell number size frequency electrophysiology other The degree of afferent input and processing above the lesion is generally intact while that in the peri lesion area is highly variable though pathologies emerge in both regions including a variety of pain syndromes Primary afferent input to spinal regions below the injury and the processing of this information becomes even more important in the face of complete or partial loss of descending input because such spared sensory processing can lead to both adaptive and pathological outcomes This issue hosts review and research articles considering mechanisms of plasticity of primary afferent neurons and sensory processing after SCI and how such plasticity contributes to sparing and or recovery of functions as well as exacerbation of existing and or emergent pathologies A critical issue for the majority of the SCI community is chronic above peri and below level neuropathic pain much of which may arise at least in part from plasticity of afferent fibers and nociceptive circuitry For example autonomic dysreflexia is common hypertensive syndrome that often develops after SCI that is highly reliant on maladaptive nociceptive sensory input and processing below the lesion Moreover the loss of descending input leaves the reflexive components of bladder bowel sexual function uncoordinated and susceptible to a variety of effects through afferent fiber plasticity Finally proper afferent feedback is vital for the effectiveness of activity dependent rehabilitative therapies but aberrant nociceptive input may interfere with these approaches since they are often unchecked due to loss of descending modulation
