Sadia Zulfiqar, 2015-06-18 Islam like the West is not a homogenous monolith However Islam is most commonly represented in the West in terms of suicide bombing suppressed and veiled women and internal and external conflict These depictions of Islam suggest that the relationship between Islam and the West is and has always been one of hostility and hatred However this collection locates threads of connection and love between Islam and the West and argues that it is important to bring them to the forefront i Adventuring in the Englishes Ikram Ahmed Ibrahim Elsherif, Piers Michael Smith, 2014-10-16 This book is a compilation of articles dealing with linguistic and literary concerns relating to the global production and consumption of literature in English and global instruction and education in the English language The umbrella theme of the book is English Language and Literature in a Globalized World or The Global Appropriation and hybridization of English The contributing authors are international scholars and creative writers from different parts of the world who offer unique perspectives on the ways in which the English language and English literature are constantly developing and changing in a postcolonial global world. They are mostly professors of English who have cross cultural teaching experiences and who live or have lived and worked in both Anglophone and non Anglophone countries. To many of them English is their dominant language but not the mother tongue. All of them are bilingual or even trilingual. Thus their scholarly investigations are flavoured with their personal experiences or adventures with the language and its users. Their unique visions reveal a process of adoption, adaptation, reinvention and appropriation of both the language and its literature in a multi national, multi cultural and multi lingual community of a world where English has become the most recognizable sign of globalization. This book will appeal to all scholars and practitioners of English language and literature, particularly those interested in colonial and postcolonial studies, modern and post modern studies, ethnic and minority studies, feminist studies, cross cultural studies, linguistics, semantics, ESP and curriculum development.

Islamic Postcolonialism Hasan Majed, 2015-09-18. Islamic postcolonialism is a theoretical perspective that combines two components which have up until now existed in a state of tension. As a secular theory, postcolonialism has notably failed to account for Muslim priorities; it has for instance had severe problems critiquing the anti Islam polemics of The Satanic Verses as is evidenced by Edward Said's support for Rushdie in spite of his criticism of the stereotypical representation of Islam and Muslims in the West. Islamic postcolonialism applies the anti colonial resistant methodology of postcolonialism from a Muslim perspective, exploring the continuance of colonial discourse in part of the contemporary western writing about Islam and Muslims. This book explores how Islam is depicted and Muslim identities are constructed in four representative works of contemporary British fiction: Hanif Kureishi's The Black Album (1995), Monica Ali's Brick Lane (2003), Fadia Faqir's My Name is Salma (2007) and Leila Aboulela's Minaret (2005). Salman Rushdie's The Satanic Verses (1988) is also discussed in terms of its crucial role in fostering what some Muslims might consider polemical and stereotypical positions in writing about Islam.

My Name Is Salma ,2008 When Salma becomes pregnant before marriage in her small village in the Levant her innocent days playing the pipe for her goats are gone for ever She is swept into prison for her own protection To the sound of her screams her newborn baby daughter is snatched away In the middle of the most English of towns Exeter she learns good manners from her landlady and settles down with an Englishman But deep in her heart the cries of her baby daughter still echo When she can bear them no longer she goes back to her village to find her It is a journey that will change everything and nothing Slipping back and forth between the olive groves of the Levant and the rain slicked pavements of Exeter My Name is Salma is a searing portrayal of a woman s courage in the face of insurmountable odds and Border Crossings Kristen Lillvis, Robert Miltner, Molly Fuller, 2016-12-21 Globalization and transnationalism have reshaped our communities and their borderlines. Communities exceed fixed boundaries existing instead in the liminal spaces where narratives intersect, clash or cooperate. These liminal spaces, physical and virtual, local and global, provide opportunities for diversifying discussions on diaspora, cultural hybridity and ethnic identity. Ethnic women writers make significant contributions to this dialogue regarding the reconfiguration of people and their perimeters. A multigenre and multicultural text, Community Boundaries and Border Crossings explores the novels, short stories, essays, autobiographies, testimonios, plays, poems and hybrid poetics of established and emerging ethnic women writers. This collection of critical essays highlights the new zones of cultural contact and exchange that are defining the twenty-first century. Each chapter reflects an awareness of cultural changes and challenges, engaging readers in a richly productive conversation concerning the interconnectedness of border crossings and community boundaries.

Community Boundaries

Translating Dissent Mona Baker, 2015-10-30 Written by the winners of the Intranews Linguists of the Year award for 2016, discursive and non-discursive interventions in the political arena are heavily mediated by various acts of translation that enable protest movements to connect across the globe. Focusing on the Egyptian experience since 2011, this volume brings together a unique group of activists who are able to reflect on the complexities, challenges and limitations of one or more forms of translation and its impact on their ability to interact with a variety of domestic and global audiences. Drawing on a wide range of genres and modalities from documentary film and subtitling to oral narratives, webcomics and street art, the 18 essays reveal the dynamics and complexities of translation in protest movements across the world. Each unique contribution demonstrates some aspect of the interdependence of these movements and their inevitable reliance on translation to create networks of solidarity. The volume is framed by a substantial introduction by Mona Baker and includes an interview with Egyptian activist and film maker Philip Rizk. With contributions by scholars and artists, professionals and activists directly involved in the Egyptian revolution and other movements, Translating Dissent will be of interest to students of translation, intercultural studies and sociology as well as the reader interested in the study of social and political movements. Online materials including links to relevant websites and videos are available at <http://www.routledge.com/cw/baker>. Additional resources for Translation and Interpreting Studies are available on the Routledge Translation Studies Portal <http://cw.routledge.com/textbooks/translationstudies>.

Transformations of the Liminal Self Alaa Alghamdi, 2011-08-18 The concept of home has been changing for more than a century. This change began with colonialism and the movement of people across the globe, often within a set power dynamic. Since people now move with greater frequency, the question of where home is and what home means is more relevant than ever before. Meticulously researched, Transformations of the Liminal Self addresses the formation of home and identity and the ways in which the latter depends on the former. Using the postcolonial Muslim characters in the literary works of British authors Salman Rushdie, Hanif Kureishi, Zadie Smith, Monica Ali and Fadia Faqir, author Alaa Alghamdi shows how home and identity are profoundly impacted by the power dynamics of the colonial relationship the individual immigrants experience and the subjects multicultural setting Drawing upon the theoretical work of Homi Bhabha Rosemary Marangoly George Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak and Edward Said the conception of home and the formation of hybrid identities is examined and connected to larger cultural manifestations of MuslimWestern relationships More specifically Alghamdi explores how these characters define their home Bold and challenging Alghamdi's work offers a rigorous and well articulated contribution to the ongoing academic conversation about identity and postcolonial literature De Niro's Game Rawi Hage, 2012-09-17 There is but one truly serious philosophical problem and that is suicide In Rawi Hage's unforgettable novel winner of the 2008 IMPAC Prize this famous quote by Camus becomes a touchstone for two young men caught in Lebanon's civil war Bassam and George are childhood best friends who have grown to adulthood in war torn Beirut Now they must choose their futures to stay in the city and consolidate power through crime or to go into exile abroad alienated from the only existence they have known Bassam chooses one path obsessed with leaving Beirut he embarks on a series of petty crimes to finance his departure Meanwhile George builds his power in the underworld of the city and embraces a life of military service crime for profit killing and drugs Told in the voice of Bassam De Niro's Game is a beautiful explosive portrait of a contemporary young man shaped by a lifelong experience of war Rawi Hage's brilliant style mimics a world gone mad so smooth and apparently sane that its razor sharp edges surprise and cut deeply A powerful meditation on life and death in a war zone and what comes after

Edinburgh Companion to the Arab Novel in English Nouri Gana, 2015-04-17 Opening up the field of diasporic Anglo Arab literature to critical debate this companion spans from the first Arab novel in 1911 to the resurgence of the Anglo Arabic novel in the last 20 years There are chapters on authors such as Ameen Rihani Ahdaf The Frightened Ones Dima Wannous, 2020-08-25 Finalist for the 2018 International Prize for Arabic Fiction A timely and haunting novel from an exciting new voice in international literature set in present day Syria In her therapist's waiting room in Damascus Suleima meets a strange and reticent man named Naseem and they soon begin a tense affair But when Naseem a writer flees Syria for Germany he sends Suleima the unfinished manuscript of his novel To Suleima's surprise she and the novel's protagonist are uncannily similar As she reads Suleima's past overwhelms her and she has no idea what to trust Naseem's pages her own memory or nothing at all Narrated in alternating chapters by Suleima and the mysterious woman portrayed in Naseem's novel The Frightened Ones is a boundary blurring radical examination of the effects of oppression on one's sense of identity the effects of collective trauma and a moving window into life inside Assad's Syria The Voices of War Heroines: Sexual Violence, Testimony, and the Bangladesh Liberation War Fayeza Hasanat, 2022-02-14 Examining the experiences of the wartime rape survivors of Bangladesh from the perspective of social theory of trauma this book reads the testimonies of war heroines as documented by Neelima Ibrahim 1921 2002 and argues that even though their trauma was not represented in a manner to invoke collective recognition and proper commemoration these women defied to be branded as victims They fought back to regain their lost honor and managed to cope with trauma and in the process learned to stand up as brave heroes resisting all odds With this book I am honoring my debt to the women warriors who wrote and rode a nation's trauma in through their bodies
