Rolleston, 2020-10 The Past may be forgotten but it never dies The elements which in the most remote times have entered into a nation's composition endure through all its history and help to mould that history and to stamp the character and genius of the people The examination therefore of these elements and the recognition as far as possible of the part they have actually contributed to the warp and weft of a nation's life must be a matter of no small interest and importance to those who realise that the present is the child of the past and the future of the present who will not regard themselves their kinsfolk and their fellow citizens as mere transitory phantoms hurrying from darkness into darkness but who know that in them a vast historic stream of national life is passing from its distant and mysterious origin towards a future which is largely conditioned by all the past wanderings of that human stream but which is also in no small degree what they by their courage their patriotism their knowledge and their understanding choose to make it The part played by the Celtic race as a formative influence in the history the literature and the art of the people inhabiting the British Islands a people which from that centre has spread its dominions over so vast an area of the earth's surface has been unduly obscured in popular thought For this the current use of the term Anglo Saxon applied to the British people as a designation of race is largely responsible Historically the term is quite misleading There is nothing to justify this singling out of two Low German tribes when we wish to indicate the race character of the British people The use of it leads to such absurdities as that which the writer noticed not long ago when the proposed elevation by the Pope of an Irish bishop to a cardinalate was described in an English newspaper as being prompted by the desire of the head of the Catholic Church to pay a compliment to the Anglo Saxon race The true term for the population of these islands and for the typical and dominant part of the population of North America is not Anglo Saxon but Anglo Celtic It is precisely in this blend of Germanic and Celtic elements that the British people are unique it is precisely this blend which gives to this people the fire the lan and in literature and art the sense of style colour drama which are not common growths of German soil while at the same time it gives the deliberateness and depth the reverence for ancient law and custom and the passion for personal freedom which are more or less strange to the Romance nations of the South of Europe May they never become strange to the British Islands Nor is the Celtic element in these islands to be regarded as contributed wholly or even very predominantly by the populations of the so called Celtic Fringe It is now well known to ethnologists that the Saxons did not by any means exterminate the Celtic or Celticised populations whom they found in possession of Great Britain Mr E W B Nicholson librarian of the Bodleian writes in his important work Keltic Researches 1904

 Ryan, 2019-05-01 In the four provinces of Ireland there are thirty two counties Each county and its people have their own traditions beliefs and folklore and each one is also inhabited by the Sidhe an ancient and magical race Some believe they are descended from fallen angels whilst others say they are the progeny of Celtic deities They go by many names the good folk the wee folk the gentle people and the fey but are most commonly known as the fairies These are not the whimsical fairies of Victorian and Edwardian picture books They are feared and revered in equal measure and even in the twenty first century are spoken of in hushed tones The fairies are always listening Storyteller Steve Lally and his wife singer songwriter Paula Flynn Lally have compiled this magnificent collection of magical fairy stories from every county in Ireland Filled with unique illustrations that bring these tales to life Irish Gothic Fairy Stories will both enthrall and terrify readers for generations to come     The Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer ,1911
