social realism is seeking to address is about understanding the social conditions of knowledge production and exchange as well as its structuring in the curriculum and in pedagogy The central concern is with the on going social reproduction of inequality through schooling and exploring whether and how foregrounding specialised knowledge and its access holds the possibility for interrupting it This book consists of 13 chapters by different authors working in Oceania Asia Europe Africa and North America From very different vantage points the authors focus their theoretical and empirical sights on the assumptions about knowledge that underpin educational processes and the pursuit of more equitable schooling for all

Building Governance and Climate Change Richard Lorch, Jacques Laubscher, Edwin Hon-wan Chan, Henk

Visser, 2019-10-23 The contribution of buildings to climate change is widely acknowledged This book investigates how building regulatory systems are addressing the current and future effects of climate change and how these systems can be improved After presenting a comprehensive overview of how the current building regulatory system developed some of the inadequacies are identified The largest part of the book examines the potential for innovative policy solutions to address the real world problem of mitigating and adapting buildings to climate change This publication contributes significantly to our understanding of the complexities of long term energy efficiency in buildings This book was originally published as a special issue of the Building Research Information journal
