

Slicing

- Start with the knife at a sharp angle and with the tip of the knife on the cutting board.
- Move the knife forward and down to slice through the product.
- Finish the cut with the knife against the cutting board. For the second slice, raise the knife and pull backward. The tip of the knife should always be on the cutting board.

Dicing

- Cut the product into even slices of the desired thickness.
- Stack the slices and slice across the stack in even pieces.
- Stack the slices again and slice again.
- Chopping with a Chef's Knife
- Start by holding the tip of the knife against the cutting board with the guiding hand.
- Rock the knife rapidly up and down at the same time, while gradually moving the knife sideways across the product on the cutting board. The cuts should pass through all parts of the product.
- After several cuts, redistribute the product and start again.
- Continue until all the product is chopped to the desired fineness.

Handbook of Visual Criminology Michelle Brown, Eamonn Carrabine, 2017-07-06 Dynamically written and richly illustrated the Routledge International Handbook of Visual Criminology offers the first foundational primer on visual criminology. Spanning a variety of media and visual modes, this volume assembles established researchers whose work is essential to understanding the role of the visual in criminology and emergent thinkers whose work is taking visual criminology in new directions. This book is divided into five parts that each highlight a key aspect of visual criminology, exploring the diversity of methods, techniques, and theoretical approaches currently shaping the field. Part I introduces formative positions in the developments of visual criminology and explores the different disciplines that have contributed to analysing images. Part II explores visual representations of crime across film, graphic art, documentary, police photography, press coverage, and graffiti and urban aesthetics. Part III discusses the relationship of visual criminology to criminal justice institutions like policing, punishment, and law. Part IV focuses on the distinctive ethical problems posed by the image, reflecting on the historical development, theoretical disputes, and methodological issues involved. Part V identifies new frameworks and emergent perspectives and reflects upon the distinctive challenges and limits that can be seen in this emerging field. This book includes a vibrant colour plate section and over a hundred black and white images breaking down the barriers between original photography and artwork, historic paintings and illustrations, and modern comics and films. This interdisciplinary book will be of interest to criminologists, sociologists, visual ethnographers, art historians, and those engaged with media studies.
