2013	270	150	170	160	170
2014	280	160	180	170	180

Extract B

With house price growth slowing up in the secondary market, housing strategies are once again front page news. Following the housing-led recovery throughout 2014 and a sharp slowing in 2015 fuelled by stronger other things, a rising population, rising real incomes and increased mortgage lending, the new housing-led strategy is being favoured for housing as a stimulant with the number of people left and current house lending more than two-thirds of total output. Policies such as a maximum price on rental property might decrease the demand. With house price growth increasing real income growth and hence housing supply expands due to the need to attract the housing mortgage loans, housing ultimately for the first time in a long time is at the centre. One of the main aims will be 'get into the housing market' at present the number is close to zero with things that is not even when the government says. Housing supply is rising but it is insufficient due to the need to get into the housing market. The government is trying to get into the housing market by increasing the supply of housing, but it is not enough to get into the housing market. The government is trying to get into the housing market by increasing the supply of housing, but it is not enough to get into the housing market. The government is trying to get into the housing market by increasing the supply of housing, but it is not enough to get into the housing market.
