Ethnic Minority Women's Writing in France Claire Mouflard, 2020-11-17 In Ethnic Minority Women's Writing in France Mouflard argues that the identity politics surrounding the immigration discourse of early twenty first century France were reflected in the marketing and editing practices of the Metropole s key publishers specifically with regards to non white French women s literature Echoing the utopic Black Blanc Beur model of integration which surfaced during the 1998 soccer World Cup select publishers fashioned unofficial literary categories based on neocolonial racial and gender stereotypes either lauding integrated Beur authors or exploiting Black political dissenters Concurrently metropolitan women writers in their autobiographies autofictions and manifestoes problematized notions of French multiculturalism and literary hierarchies thereby exposing the dangers of utopian thinking Mouflard ultimately reveals that the absence of the Franco Vietnamese identity from the Black Blanc Beur paradigm enabled authors of Southeastern Asian origin to establish themselves outside of the era's reductive multicultural utopia within a realm directly adjacent to literature française if not in a newly designed truly multicultural French literature category Overall Mouflard's research highlights the discrepancies between France's official discourse on immigration and the actual identity formation processes created by the institutions and exploited by influential publishers in the years leading to the historic 2005 banlieue civil unrest

Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment Odile Cazenave, Patricia Célérier, 2011-02-02

By looking at engaging literature from the recent past when the francophone African writer was implicitly seen as imparted with a mission to the present when such authors usually aspire to be acknowledged primarily for their work as writers Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment addresses the current processes of canonization in contemporary francophone African literature Odile Cazenave and Patricia Clavier argue that aesthetic as well as political issues are now at the forefront of debates about the African literary canon as writers and critics increasingly acknowledge the ideology of form Working across genres but focusing on the novel the authors take up the question of renewed forms of commitment in this literature Their selected writers range from Mongo Beti Ousmane Sembène and Aminata Sow Fall to Boubacar Boris Diop Vronique Tadjo Alain Mabanckou and L'onora Miano among others Youth Moves Nadine Dolby, Fazal Rizvi, 2008-03-25 This collection of original essays focuses attention on the actual practices of twenty first century youth in the brave new world of globalization addressing the possibilities and dangers of young people's transnational commodified identities Race and Sex across the French Atlantic Frieda Ekotto, 2012-07-10 Jean Genet's masterpiece Les Nègres was first published in 1958 in the midst of the Algerian war and first performed at the Théâtre de Lutèce in Paris in October 1959 Yet even though the play is more than 50 years old it remains a fundamental contribution to critical race theory as Genet unequivocally posits that no matter what a black person does or doesn't do simply to be black in our times is itself a tragedy Placing Genet in the context of Negritude movement Race and Sex across the French Atlantic equally reveals and examines blackness within the African American dialogue with a white French author's provocative questions about race Is a black man always black and even more fundamentally What is blackness Within this framework to question blackness therefore is to set out on an ontological quest as blackness has become a real living thing in its own right within European ideology social theory and historical consciousness even as Les Nègres has taken its place as a major text in the francophone and philosophical tradition of writing on race In essence this book concentrates on the way in which language particularly the French language has shaped ideas about race within transatlantic discourses and with its companion continental philosophy has also shaped the historical understanding of discourse on race It navigates between multiple readings of race within the French Atlantic using Lorraine Hansberry's play Les Blancs Dany Laferrière's Comment faire l'amour avec un Nègre sans se fatiguer Genet's dialogue with the Black Panthers and different conceptions of the so-called N-word Race and Sex across the French Atlantic thus explores how Les Nègres offered a groundbreaking reading of how race functioned and continues to function as an all pervasive discourse that provides a central principle around which society in general is organized The play stages a deeply self reflexive and critical examination of the very essence of
