John Dahl and Neo-Noir Paul Monaco, 2010-03-18 In John Dahl and Neo-Noir: Examining Auteurism and Genre Paul Monaco provides a focused inquiry into the first three feature films that director John Dahl made for theatrical release Kill Me Again 1989 Red Rock West 1993 and The Last Seduction 1994 Subsequent to their releases these three films became identified in academic film criticism as neo noir and Dahl was labeled a noir meister who made a cottage industry of neo noir The importance of these three films and Monaco's investigation of them is how they illuminate a modern director's creative process in relation to an emerging genre Dahl is rightly recognized for his directorial vision and his creative style His approach to film direction and his distinctiveness of vision is thoroughly explored in the book Using interviews with the professionals with whom Dahl has worked closely Monaco also explores basic notions about auteurism and how genre is defined Considering Dahl's extensive directing for television alongside his first three films John Dahl and Neo-Noir ultimately demonstrates how this groundbreaking director is a prime example of a modern director for hire

Mean Streets and Raging Bulls Richard Martin, 2000-01-01 Classic film noir was Hollywood's dark cinema of crime and corruption a genre underpinned by a tone of existential cynicism which stripped bare the myth of the American Dream and offered a bleak nightmarish vision of a fragmented society that rhymed with many of the social realities of forties and fifties America Mean Streets and Raging Bulls explores how since its apparent demise in the late fifties the noir genre has been revitalized during the post studio era The book is divided into two sections In the first the evolution of film noir is contextualized in relation to both American cinema's industrial transformation and the post Depression history of the United States In the second the evolution of neo noir and its relation to classic film noir is illustrated by detailed reference to representative texts including Chinatown Roman Polanski 1974 Night Moves Arthur Penn 1975 Taxi Driver Martin Scorsese
