The Dog of Tithwal Saadat Hasan Manto, 2021-09-14 Manto's empathy and narrative economy invite comparisons with Chekhov. These readable idiomatic translations have all the agile swiftness and understated poignancy that parallel suggests Boyd Tonkin Wall Street Journal. Stories from the undisputed master of the modern Indian short story encircling the marginalized forgotten lives of Bombay set against the backdrop of the India Pakistan Partition. Salman Rushdie By far the most comprehensive collection of stories by this 20th Century master available in English. A master of the short story Saadat Hasan Manto opens a window onto Bombay's demimonde: its prostitutes, rickshaw drivers, artists and strays, as well probing the pain and bewilderment of the Hindus, Muslims and Sikhs ripped apart by the India Pakistan Partition. Manto is best known for his dry-eyed examination of the violence, horrors and reverberations from the Partition. From a stray dog caught in the crossfire at the fresh border of India and Pakistan to friendly neighbors turned enemy soldiers pausing for tea together in a momentary cease-fire, Manto shines incandescent light into hidden corners with an unflinching gaze and a fierce humanism. With a foreword by Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Vijay Seshadri, these stories are essential reading for our current moment where divisiveness is erupting into violence in so many parts of the world.

Our Final Salute Jay Schofield, 2012-04-27 Introduction A Trip to Canada September 3, 1944 On the above date two brothers, Jay and Win Schofield, briefly crossed the Canadian border from New York to gather a few documents, then return to America. Why? Each needed naturalized citizen status to join the U.S. Army. Jay, at twenty-five, and Win, ten years older, were both drafted and eager to serve their country in what would be World War II. Two other brothers, Llew and Brent, had already become eligible. The required documentation for Jay and Win were requisites to prove they were born in the province of Nova Scotia, Canada, some twenty years earlier. It would have been a simple matter of simply asking for their respective birth certificates, getting sworn in, and packing for boot camp. It got complicated. In Halifax, there had been a fire around the time of their family's migration to America, destroying their birth records. Jay and Win got their desired status and entered the military. My Life Went On That story was related to me back in the 1950s, but in typical fashion of a self-absorbed teen rebel, I saw little value in the story. Like most boys that age, my immediate focal points were: What's for supper? or Did the Red Sox win last night? or Who'll be my date for Friday's record hop? I mean, Really? That war happened when I was a few months old. What value could it have to me? How wrong I was. The years went by, including college, marriage, family, and work. Buried in the background of my thinking lingered the question about the brothers' Canadian visit and what changes the family had undergone before and after that point. It became even more of a topic considering today's America's red-hot immigration issue with the Mexican border. What would compel family members back then to fight for their adopted country? Today, Canada has become America's forgotten northern border, while our southern Mexican border captures most of the national interest. We hear of both electronic and structural fences, our National Guard's involvement, a drug war with Mexican cartels, and wanton illegal crossings bringing murders of America's Modern War Writing Alex Houen, 2024-09-05 Sacrifice and Modern War Writing presents the most extensive study to date of twentieth and twenty first century war writing Examining works by over 110 authors Alex Houen surveys how war writing explores sacrifice in relation to major modern and contemporary conflicts from the First World War to the War on Terror Various conceptions of sacrifice are examined including Christian Jewish Islamic and secular The discussion ranges across literary portrayals of multiple sacrificial practices including ancient rituals of child sacrifice martyrdom scapegoating and suicide bombing Houen builds an innovative interdisciplinary approach to how war sacrifice and their representations interrelate and a wide range of Anglophone literature is discussed including novels memoirs short stories essays manifestoes elegies ballads and lyric poetry Whereas critics and theorists have tended to emphasize that war's reality exceeds any attempt to represent it Houen contends that political religious and cultural frames of sacrifice have continued to play a significant part in shaping how war's reality is shaped and experienced Those frames are inextricably tied to modes of representation which include symbolism and mimesis Sacrifice and Modern War Writing explores how sacrificial killing in war is itself riddled with symbolic transfigurations and mimetic exchanges and it builds a fresh approach by arguing that the figurative and imaginative aspects of literary writing ironically become its very means of engaging closely with the reality of war's sacrifices That approach also develops by using the literary analyses to critique and revise various prominent theories of sacrifice and war

Sacred and Secular Martyrdom in Britain and Ireland since 1914 John Wolffe, 2019-11-28. During and immediately after the First World War there was a merging of Christian and nationalist traditions of martyrdom expressed in the design of war cemeteries and war memorials and the state funeral of the Unknown Warrior in 1920. John Wolffe explores the subsequent development of these traditions of sacred and secular martyrdom analysing the ways in which they operated sometimes in parallel, sometimes merged together and sometimes in conflict with each other. Particular topics explored include the Protestant commemoration of Marian and missionary martyrs and the Roman Catholic campaign for the canonization of the saints and martyrs of England. Secular martyrdom is discussed in relation to military conflicts especially the Second World War and the Falklands. In Ireland there was a particularly persistent merging of sacred and secular martyrdom in the wake of the Easter Rising of 1916 although by the time of the Northern Ireland Troubles in the later twentieth century these traditions diverged. In covering these themes the book also offers historical and comparative context for understanding present day acts of martyrdom in the form of suicide attacks.

One Palestine, Complete Tom Segev, 2013-05-10. A panoramic and provocative history of life in Palestine during the three strife-torn but romantic decades when Britain ruled and the seeds of today's conflicts were sown. Tom Segev's acclaimed works 1949 and The Seventh Million overturned accepted views of the history of Israel. Now Segev explores the dramatic period before the creation of the state when Britain ruled over one Palestine complete as noted in the receipt signed by the High Commissioner and when its promise to both Jews and Arabs that they would inherit the land set in motion the conflict that haunts the region to this day. Drawing on a wealth of untapped archival materials, Segev reconstructs a tumultuous era 1917 to 1948 of limitless possibilities and tragic missteps. He introduces the legendary figures General Allenby, Lawrence of Arabia, David Ben-Gurion as well as an array of pioneers, secret agents, diplomats, and fanatics. He tracks the steady advance of Jews and Arabs toward confrontation and with his hallmark originality puts forward a radical new argument that the British far from being pro Arab as commonly thought consistently favored the Zionist position and did so out of the mistaken and anti Semitic belief that Jews turned the wheels of history Rich in unforgettable characters sensitive to all perspectives One Palestine Complete brilliantly depicts the decline of an empire the birth of one nation and the tragedy of another
