

Emergency Brake Control (EBC)

The EBC control is the part of emergency brake and spring control and air released. A released valve shifts the air from EBC to the main brake to be released and EBC pressure to put it up to at least 700 kPa (100 psi). The same valve applies the spring pressure to lock. To apply the part of emergency brake with it as control valve, to release the brake, pull out on the valve.

Service Brake Control: To apply service brakes, push control forward. To release service brakes, pull control to the rear.

Note: This control is a 2-way valve with EBC and EBC-LOCK to EBC.

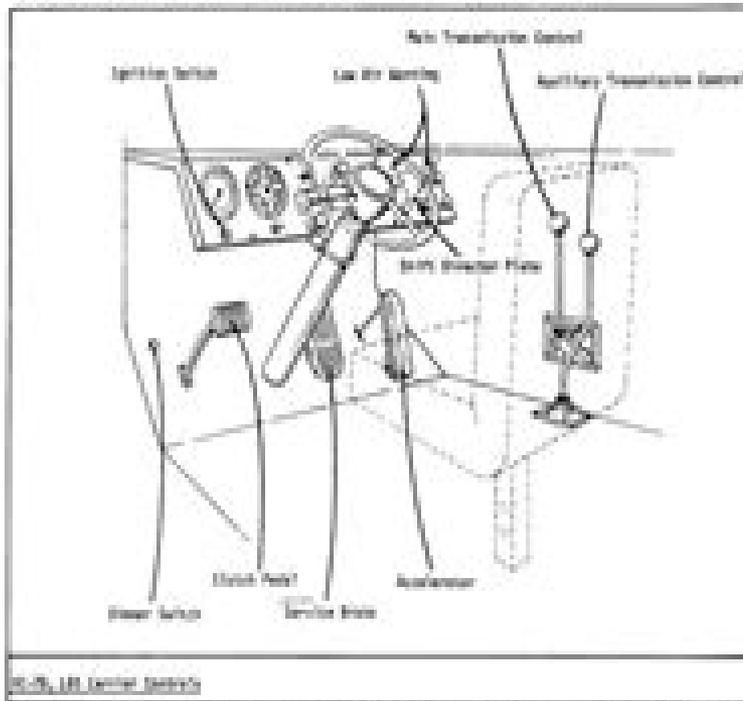

Service Brake Control

The service brake control applies a spring control, hydraulically released brake, mounted on the control shaft in the center. It is operated as follows:

- a) Start the engine and let the (500-6-160) pressure build up. The pressure must be at least 700 kPa (100 psi) before the brake can be released.
- b) Pull up on the control to release the brake.
- c) Push in on the control to apply the brake.

Note: To press all parts of emergency brake, release control for air only (500-6-160) (EBC-LOCK).

Note: This control is a 2-way valve (EBC and EBC-LOCK).

The key must be in the on position to permit use of the accelerator.

Accelerator: The accelerator is located on the right in a.c.m., and the control is forward.

Engine Gauge: The tachometer gauge is located on the engine air pressure gauge, temperature gauge, fuel level gauge, and meter. Supply the engine with air supplied with the machine for proper starting.

Control Brake Control: The stop control control, also equipped with the service brakes of all axles. This brake can be applied when operating from the rear.

Note: Do not use the emergency brake control to stop the carrier when it is in motion.

Part of Emergency Brake Control: When the emergency or part brake control is selected, air under pressure is directed to the main part of part brake cylinders in the rear situation, applying the brakes on the front rear axle. The control cannot be used until air in the cylinder is exhausted, allowing the return spring to release the brake. A mechanical lock in the cylinder prevents the brake releasing if air pressure
