Making Morality Todd Lekan, 2003 In this new contribution to moral theory Todd Lekan argues for a pragmatist conception of morality as an evolving educational and fallible practice of everyday life Drawing on the work of John Dewey Lekan asserts that moral norms are neither timeless truths nor subjective whims but habits transmitted through practices Like the habits that make up medicine or engineering moral habits are subject to rational evaluation and change according to new challenges and circumstances This pragmatic interpretation of morality provides a way out of the conundrum of relativism and absolutism Building on classical American philosophy to address current philosophical concerns Lekan's theory revises our basic understanding of moral life and the place of theorizing within that life Making Morality will prove of great interest to ethical theorists as it enjoins them to measure theoretical inquiries by how well they produce intellectual tools for problem solving in dynamic complex communities Woman's Missionary Friend, 1927 Parliamentary Papers Great Britain.
