This method for identifying a single subject as a responder to a therapy involving chemotherapy is based on the fact that the other subjects with lung cancer, a subset of subjects with breast cancer, and subjects with melanoma are also subjects who appear to respond to the therapy. A single subject may be a responder to the therapy.

The authors are grateful to the anonymous reviewers for their constructive comments and suggestions. The authors also thank the participants in the 2014 Annual Meeting of the European Association of Agricultural Economists for their helpful comments.

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to define the problem. This involves identifying the symptoms of the problem and determining the scope of the problem.
