Festivals and Values Waldemar Kuligowski,Marcin Poprawski,2023-11-27

This is an original book covering all the past areas of research anyone would need to know about festivals and event based culture. It is based on academic research but written in a way relevant for cultural professionals uniquely explaining the cultural power of festivals and with original empirical research the realities of organisation and management and social and economic value. Dr Jonathan Vickery Reader in Cultural Policy Studies and Director Centre for Cultural and Media Policy Studies University of Warwick. This book discusses music festivals in the context of the specific values they convey. Today music festivals are a permanent feature of national regional and local cultural policies a valuable asset in the tourism industry and a significant source of income for an industry that has been adversely affected by the steady decline in physical sales of music. For the audience on the other hand it is an opportunity to escape from everyday life multi sensory contact with art an activity that stands for full body participation a cultural phenomenon that drags people out of their homes like no other. There is one common denominator linking the above mentioned features of contemporary music festivals namely the world of values. This is evident from the non accidental locations festivals spaces design planning and the line ups created consciously with great care. The organisers missions logos and other symbolic organisational artefacts communicate specific values. These values are explicitly mentioned by artists and audiences they can be easily identified in online forums and media reports participant behaviour festival rituals and additional festival programs are shaped on the basis of values and cooperation is built between the festival and the local community. As the reader will quickly realize numbers and statistics sit alongside descriptions and quotations in this book and the organisers statements are accompanied by the opinions of academics but above all the festival audience is given a voice both through quotations and their drawings. This voice is by no means uniform as it turned out that research into values was often transformed into a pretext for spinning tales about one's life situation one's political preferences and one's understanding of freedom and responsibility. Memories were mixed with declarations joy with regret curses with dreams prose with poetry. Thomas Pettitt was not wrong in noting that Social history has learnt to appreciate festival as a valuable window on society and its structures. The authors have tried to open all the windows available. Students and researchers in the fields of cultural anthropology social psychology folklore studies comparative religion sociology of culture cultural policy cultural history and cultural management will find this book highly interesting.

Ageing and the Visitor Economy Stephen J. Page, Joanne Connell, 2022-03-29. This significant volume is the first to use primary research evidence to examine tourism ageing and the implications of an ageing population for the visitor economy. Adopting a multidisciplinary approach this book offers insights into the new opportunities threats and challenges that the growing ageing tourism markets poses. When this is combined with the impact of health conditions such as dementia the future shape of visitor demand and tourism behaviour is likely to change and face many new challenges albeit at different rates in time and space. Chapters include cutting edge insights into future issues while interviews are used to illustrate and explain issues affecting ageing and tourism creating a much needed synthesis of the ageing tourism nexus to demonstrate intellectual leadership around this theme This book will be of great interest to all upper level students academics and researchers in the fields of tourism hospitality leisure studies and health and social care
