

Introduction

In recent years there has been a broad trend towards firmly developing and asserting human rights both civil and rights that help people believe that we should give animals just rights to humans. Others view them as a fashionable means of trend, as well as other social systems.

Body paragraph #1

First of all, it seems clear for north intelligent people that animals deserve more rights than they have traditionally been given. This is because they are obviously intelligent and go with thoughts and feelings and if they are not receiving the same as we can, for example, it has been argued that some animals - birds and dolphins - learn, they can just like humans so they would deserve the rights of their peers and with that we would interact with human suffering. Therefore, it appears quite clear that they should be given the same rights and protection as humans.

Body paragraph #2

There are arguments against giving rights for animals and it is that they do not have the ability of human feeling and speech but human is clearly normal within the natural world. It looks human should not be given just rights upon their natural characteristics because our natural relationship is with the same as that of a wolf and a sheep. It should be clear for us that animals are not very beautiful because that is the natural way of the world.

Conclusion

In conclusion, there are arguments from both sides of the debate but generally feel that animals deserve respect, protection, and some rights. Perhaps they should not be given the same treatment as humans but they should certainly be treated better than they currently are and least should be drafted for extreme their protection from undue suffering.
