because the solutions that districts and schools choose to employ largely ignore why and how institutional and structural racism is the root cause of inequities in education Yet racial inequities in schooling can be redressed if districts and schools have leaders who are deeply committed to combatting racism in their daily practice and structures of schooling This book underscores why we need more educational leaders who adopt an anti racist stance in how they lead and are prepared to work toward racial justice and equity in a society so entrenched in racism Through diverse perspectives and voices including scholars in the field of educational leadership sociologists of education school and district administrators and grassroots community members and activist groups this book addresses issues related to anti racist educational leadership at various levels

From Normativity to Responsibility Joseph Raz, 2011-12-08 What are our duties or rights How should we act What are we responsible for How do we determine the answers to these questions Joseph Raz examines and explains the philosophical issues underlying these everyday quandaries He explores the nature of normativity namely the fact that we believe and feel we should behave in certain ways the reasoning behind certain beliefs and emotions and various basic features of making decisions about what to do He goes on to consider when we are responsible for our actions and omissions and offers a novel account of responsibility We can think of responsibility for unjustified actions or attitudes as a precondition of the blameworthiness of a person for an attitude or an action or perhaps for a whole set of actions intentions or beliefs Responsibility for justified actions or attitudes may be a precondition of praiseworthiness Either way responsibility may point to further consequences of being justified or unjustified rational or not But crucially responsibility attaches to people in a more holistic way Some people are responsible for their actions while others are not In this way Raz argues that the end is in the beginning in understanding how people are subject to normativity namely how it is that there are reasons addressed to them and what is the meaning of that for our being in the world
