World to Live In G. M. Woodwell, 2016-02-26 A scientist makes a powerful case that preservation of the integrity of the biosphere is a necessity and an inviolable human right A century of industrial development is the briefest of moments in the half billion years of the earth s evolution And yet our current era has brought greater changes to the earth than any period in human history The biosphere the globe s life giving envelope of air and climate has been changed irreparably In A World to Live In the distinguished ecologist George Woodwell shows that the biosphere is now a global human protectorate and that its integrity of structure and function are tied closely to the human future The earth is a living system Woodwell explains and its stability is threatened by human disruption Industry dumps its waste globally and makes a profit from it invading the global commons corporate interests overpower weak or nonexistent governmental protection to plunder the planet The fossil fuels industry offers the most dramatic example of environmental destruction disseminating the heat trapping gases that are now warming the earth and changing the climate forever The assumption that we can continue to use fossil fuels and adapt to climate disruption Woodwell argues is a ticket to catastrophe But Woodwell points the way toward a solution We must respect the full range of life on earth not species alone but their natural communities of plant and animal life that have built and still maintain the biosphere We must recognize that the earth s living systems are our heritage and that the preservation of the integrity of a finite biosphere is a necessity and an inviolable human right Narratives of Academics' Personal

Journeys in Contested Spaces Namrata Rao, Anesa Hosein, Ian M. Kinchin, 2023-05-18 Narratives of Academics Personal Journeys in Contested Spaces provides theoretically informed personal narratives of 11 emerging and established leaders in learning and teaching in Australia Finland New Zealand Singapore the UK and the USA The academics narratives focus on how the individuals have navigated to their current leadership role in learning and teaching whilst negotiating contested identities such as gender and physical and social marginalised spaces such as interstitial middle leadership positions These international narratives provide unique perspectives on the sense making of academics as they reflect on their learning and teaching leadership journey and how these journeys are shaped by their contested identities and the marginalised spaces they inhabit Often such identities and spaces are not recognised in higher education which may lead to even more isolating and challenging leadership journeys The book contributes to our understanding of the subjective experiences that academics encounter in their leadership journeys Further the personal narratives included in the book capture how the contested identities and marginalised spaces influence the learning and teaching leadership practices in various educational cultural and national contexts
