

- Cognitive Dissonance: A psychological theory that describes the discomfort people experience when they hold contradictory beliefs, attitudes, or values. Cognitive Dissonance theory explores the mechanisms individuals use to resolve such inconsistencies.
- Existential Crises: A profound questioning of one's existence, purpose, and meaning in life. Existential crises often involve feelings of anxiety, despair, and a search for existential meaning and fulfillment.
- Human Nature: Philosophical and psychological inquiries into the inherent qualities, characteristics, and behaviors that define what it means to be human. Discussions about human nature often involve debates about innate traits versus learned behaviors.

Follow-Along Questions:

1. Existentialism: Several philosophers in the film discuss existentialism, the philosophical movement that explores individual existence, freedom, and choice. Pay attention to their views on human freedom and responsibility. How do these ideas align with psychological concepts like self-determination and personal agency?

2. Mind-Body Connection: The film delves into the relationship between the mind and the body, exploring how our thoughts and emotions impact our physical well-being. Notice the discussions around stress, emotions, and their effects on the body. How do these discussions relate to psychosomatic disorders and the mind-body connection in psychology?

3. Consciousness and Self-Awareness: Philosophers in the film contemplate the nature of consciousness and self-awareness. Listen for their perspectives on the distinction between being aware of oneself and being aware of others. How do these discussions connect to theories of self-awareness in psychology, such as mirror self-recognition?
