

Block and Point-by-Point Comparison (In Block Format)

The compare and contrast essay is used to compare all sorts of things on any number of points. A common example is two items compared on three points, such as the movies Star Wars and Avatar compared on their visuals, stories, and soundtracks. People often wonder how to organize the comparison of their points. There are two typical formats: Block and Point-by-Point. Because of the ways Block and Point-by-Point differ in the format of their paragraphs, the organization of their comparisons, and how detailed they are, Block Format is good for creating shorter and less detailed essays, while Point-by-Point is better for writing more complex essays.

In the body of the essay (ignoring introduction and conclusion), Block Format presents its comparison and contrast in two or more paragraphs depending on how many items are being compared and contrasted to each other. In the example of any two movies being compared, no matter how many points of comparison there are between each movie, a Block Format essay would have two body paragraphs, one for each movie. Then Block Format organizes the information in an uneven way: in the first body paragraph, the first item is described on all three of the comparison points without actually comparing it to the second item. In the second body paragraph, Block Format describes the second item only by comparing it to the first. This can make Block Format essays less detailed because covering so many points in each paragraph can leave less room for well-developed analysis.

In comparison to Block Format, Point-by-Point Format requires more paragraphs. This format requires paragraphs based on the points of comparison instead of on the items being compared, so an essay with three points of comparison between two items will have three body paragraphs, not two. No matter how many items are being compared, the number of paragraphs will always be the number of points. In contrast, with Block Format, two items would mean two paragraphs, no matter how many comparison points were covered. Also, Point-by-Point Format organizes information in a more equal way than Block Format because it compares all items equally, one point at a time, repeating the process from paragraph to paragraph until all points have been fully

Crafting Comparison Papers Marcia S. Freeman, 2013 Since comparison papers require students to describe both similarities and differences they are often used as assessment tools in just about every subject For this reason alone developing writers should be taught how to craft effective comparison papers But teaching your students how to compose comparison papers also has a larger impact on their education it prepares them to think more analytically perform better in complex testing situations and compare texts In Crafting Comparison Papers Marcia S Freeman fully explains the four instructional steps that develop comparison skills understanding the concept of attributes organizing attributes for comparison building clear coherent comparative paragraphs and assembling effective comparison papers She includes lessons with specific Target Skills TM to support your students progress and she suggests timelines that will help you plan your curriculum Throughout Freeman s comprehensive approach and clear instructions make this book a unique and valuable resource for any teacher of developing writers

The International Student's Guide to Writing a Research Paper Janine Carlock, Maeve Eberhardt, Jaime Horst, Peter Kolenich, 2017-06-13 The International Student s Guide to Writing a Research Paper is a reference text for undergraduate students and those in ESL or bridge courses who are writing a research paper for the first time This book is partly an update of Writing a Research Paper by Lionel Menasche 1998 and partly a companion to The ESL Writer s Handbook Each section of the book includes a discrete task called a Building Block which requires students to apply the skills learned toward the development of their own paper This step by step approach allows students to construct knowledge as they become more familiar with the process making writing a research paper a less intimidating task Special features This guide uses simple direct language for those for whom writing a research paper is new Most example writing is from international students in an ESL program or first year writing class including two sample papers one in APA and one in MLA A section on responding to instructor feedback to provide students with the tools to read and understand comments and use them to improve the first draft A subsection dedicated to constructing clear and cohesive paragraphs and sentences The guide includes citation and style examples in MLA 8th edition
